ASSEMBLY FAVORS SHARING COST OF GRADE SEPARATION

Post-Dispatch Canvass Shows Majority in Both House and Council Would Vote to Relieve Railways of Consequential Damages Which Might Accrue.

23 OUT OF 41 ARE COMMITTED TO PLAN

Railroads Would Pay for Construction Only, While Municipality Would Settle Any Damage to Abutting Property.

A poll of the Municipal Assembly by Post-Dispatch reporters shows that a majority of the members favor taking the most direct and practical means of quickly abolishing grade crossings in St. Louis by having the city pay the consequential land damages. Accidents at grade crossings have resulted in the loss of 70 lives in the last five years, as shown by statistics published in the Post-Dispatch of last Sunday.

Nine of the 13 members of the City Council said that they would vote for the grade crossing bill requiring the city to pay the consequential damages. Fourteen members of the House of Delegates said they would vote for the bill, and three others said they were willing for the city to pay at least a part of the damages.

Three members of the Council declared they were in favor of requiring the railroads to pay all damages, and seven members of the House took the same view. One member of the Council and three members of the House declined to say how they stood on the proposition.

Consequential Damages Defined. Consequential damages, as pertaining to grade crossings, is defined by President Robert of the Board of Public Improvements as the difference in the value of abutting property and improvements before and after the completion of the changes in grades, providing there is a decrease in value. In many instances, upon completion of a new public work, there is an appreciation rather than a decrease in the value of abutting property.

The Post-Dispatch has persistently advocated the abolition of grade crossings in St. Louis for many years. The railroads have resisted all legislative attempts to abolish the grades, because they were required not only to pay the cost of separation of grades, but also the damages to abutting property.

When the Wabash railroad, through the appointment of receivers, passed into control of St. Louis men, the Post-Dispatch urged that the road should lead the movement to abolish grade crossings. W. K. Bixby and E. B. Pryor, two of the receivers, then proposed to abolish all Wabash grade crossings, provided the city would pay the consequential damages.

The Board of Public Improvements, after an exhaustive investigation of the grade crossing problem, recommended that it was fair to the city for it to pay this small portion of the expense.

Two Bills Are Pending. On the theory that the Municipal Assembly would take the same view the Board of Public Improvements presented its first grade crossing bill last Friday. This bill provided for the abolition of the Union avenue crossing of the Terminal Railroad Association. To put the issue squarely before the Assembly the Board prepared two bills, one providing that city pay the consequential damages, and the other that the railroads should pay them.

Ordinances providing for the abolition of all the Wabash and Rock Island grade crossings in the west end of the city, including the crossings at Union, De Baliviere and Delmar avenues, will be introduced in the Assembly Friday. Bills for the abolition of all other grade crossings in the city will be introduced as soon as they can be prepared by the Board.

All the members in both branches of the Municipal Assembly favor the elimination of grade crossings. Opposition to the payment of consequential damages by the city heretofore has caused a deadlock between the Assembly and the railroads. A few ordinances have been passed seeking to compel the rail-

FINDS HER LOST DOG IN SHOW, WINS HIM IN LAW SUIT

Miss Minnie Potter Victor After Replevining Wolf Hound From Florist.

FASHION SHOW IN COURT

"Czar Nicholas" Mistress Strokes Him as Trial Proceeds—He Won Blue Ribbon.

Miss Minnie Potter of 4021 Washington avenue won the possession of "Czar Nicholas Alexander" in Justice Krueger's court Friday. "Czar Nicholas" is a big Russian wolf hound, who took the first prize in the recent St. Louis Dog Show. Miss Potter's ownership of the hound was contested by Adolph Brix, a florist, of 1518 St. Louis avenue.

Justice Krueger's court was crowded with fashionably gowned women while the trial was in progress. Miss Potter, dressed in a blue serge suit, with a big black straw hat, sat almost under the Judge's bench, stroking "Czar Nicholas" on the head occasionally. The dog responded by wagging his shaggy tail, and seemed to be very happy, although Miss Potter looked much perturbed while the contest for his possession was being fought.

Leaves Court Leading Dog. When Judge Krueger decided the case in her favor, awarding her one cent damages in addition to possession of the dog, she left the court room in triumph, leading the dog and escorted by the women who had come to court to help her win the fight.

Eighteen months ago the hound wandered away from his Washington avenue home. Miss Potter has raised him from a pup, and was much grieved. She reported his loss to the city detective department, and Detectives Chrysler and Finan searched for him. Chrysler carried with him a photograph of "Czar Nicholas," and every time he met a Russian wolf hound he drew forth the picture to compare his spots.

Miss Potter visited the dog show a month ago, and there saw Czar Nicholas in a cage. He was not as clean and well fed as when he left home, but he was still fine enough looking to capture the blue ribbon. She reported to Detective Chrysler that this was her dog, and the detective set out to recover him.

Traded to a Florist. He found that the hound was exhibited by Norman Zeis of 3738 Thozola avenue. Zeis told the detective that he had traded the wolf hound to Brix for a black-and-tan dog. Chrysler attempted to recover the dog from the florist, but Brix would not give him up, and Miss Potter sued out a writ of replevin. The dog was delivered to her April 20.

Brix was not satisfied with Justice Krueger's decision, and announced that he would appeal, although Judge Krueger had indicated that if he would accept the verdict of the court the costs would be assessed against Miss Potter, as he had come into possession of the dog innocently.

Dr. Scott, a veterinary surgeon, testified that he accepted "Czar Nicholas" in payment of a fee of $3. The man from whom he had got the dog said he followed his wagon home one night. Dr. Scott added that he was a dog expert, and wouldn't give 30 cents for the Czar. Tears came to Miss Potter's eyes when the veterinary made this statement.

Dr. Scott passed the dog on to Zeis, and Zeis traded him to Brix. It was shown by a series of witnesses. Attorney Christy M. Farrar represented Miss Potter, and Attorney Waitner Nohl represented Brix.

Other physicians told the Post-Dispatch the condition was most unusual, especially from such a cause. The fractures in Mrs. Norris' hip and left arm have been there nearly nine months, it is believed. The first sign of her illness was a sharp pain in the arm. A Chester physician diagnosed the trouble as rheumatism and treated her for that disease. A few days later she stumbled slightly while walking through her house and instantly was stricken with such a severe pain in the hip that she had to go to bed. The physician was called and again pronounced the trouble rheumatism.

When Mrs. Norris failed to improve after four months' treatment, she was brought to the St. Louis hospital by her daughter, Mrs. H. Turner. Dr. Siebert, recalling the other case he had studied, diagnosed the trouble at once. Mrs. Norris weighed about 200 pounds when taken ill. Her weight now is not more than 125 pounds, her nurses say.

BONES SO BRITTLE, WOMAN, TURNING IN BED, BREAKS ARM

Deaconess Hospital Patient Suffers Fractures at the Slightest Pressure.

Mrs. C. W. Norris of Chester, Ill., is being treated at the Deaconess Hospital, West Belle place and Sarah street, for an unusual affliction which has made her bones so brittle they break under the slightest pressure.

Her right arm was broken when she turned in bed two days ago. She also had suffered fractures of her left arm and hip, and she now is in such a condition that she fears to move unassisted. When the nurses turn her in bed they handle her with the greatest care, lest other bones be broken by the slightest movement.

The brittleness of the bones is known to medical men as "osteoporosis." In the case of Mrs. Norris, the decalcification was caused by carcinoma of the supra-renal capsule, according to Dr. A. Siebert of St. South Jefferson avenue, who is attending her.

The supra-renal capsules are small glands attached to the upper extremity of each kidney. Dr. Siebert explained. The carcinoma, which is a malignant tumor, has fastened itself to one of these glands, and is causing the substance of the bones to deteriorate.

Dr. Siebert said he had seen only one other case like the one he now is treating. Other physicians told the Post-Dispatch the condition was most unusual, especially from such a cause.

Saw Revolver in Window Which Suggested Thought of Ending Life and She Got it—Weeps on Cross-Examination.

What happened on the night Mrs. Alma James shot and killed her husband, Leo James, as he lay asleep, was told by Mrs. James on the witness stand in Judge Taylor's court Friday, as the climax of her direct testimony at her trial for second-degree murder.

The courtroom was crowded, most of the spectators being women. In the corridor outside 150 persons surged about the doors and pleaded for admission. Deputy sheriffs held them back.

Occasionally as Mrs. James told of the events leading to the killing she was overcome by emotion and tears stole down her cheeks. Several times she stopped to dry her eyes with her handkerchief.

Doesn't Make Expected Defense. To the surprise of the State's attorneys, Mrs. James did not make the expected defense that she raised the revolver to her own head to shoot herself but in her sleep or in a period of transitory mania, shot her husband instead.

She said she could not remember the shooting or what immediately preceded or followed it.

Mrs. James was asked to tell what happened when she and her husband went to their flat at 4474 Lexington avenue after spending the evening of April 27, 1911, at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Floyd Alcorn.

"He didn't talk all the way home," she said. "When we entered our house he began quarreling and cursing. He talked about not wanting a child and said I would have to go next day and have an operation performed. If I didn't do this, he said, I would be sorry."

"He said he had made arrangements for it Wednesday and that it was for that purpose that Mrs. Alcorn had given $30 to me."

"Kicked Me as Hard as He Could." "When I undressed he wouldn't let me get in bed. He kicked me as hard as he could in the stomach and said: 'After that maybe you won't have to go.'"

SCHIFF'S VALET ORDERED BACK TO PRISON BY COURT

Appellate Division Revoked Foulke E. Brandt's Writ of Habeas Corpus.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Folke E. Brandt former valet to Mortimer L. Schiff, was ordered sent back to Dannemora prison by the appellate division of the Supreme Court this afternoon.

The Court was unanimous in dismissing the writ of habeas corpus granted by Justice Gerard to Brandt who had served five years of a thirty-year sentence for burglary in the first degree.

BALL FAN ARRESTED FOR OFFER TO BET

Dayton Street Policemen Grab Man as Detective Prepared to Trap Him.

When the New York Giants and Cardinals were playing at Robison Field Thursday afternoon, John J. Jackson, 1508 Market street, according to the complaint made Friday by Detective Killian of the gambling squad, stood up in his seat and yelled: "I'll bet two to one on the Giants."

Killian, who had been sent to the park to detect gambling, says he was about to hand a marked bill to Jackson when two Dayton street policemen grabbed Jackson and made a premature arrest.

Jackson is charged with gambling, although the police saw no money change hands. Unofficially, the police add that Jackson wasn't even offering fair odds considering the way the two teams have been playing.

WRECKED AUTO FOUND BESIDE DEATH CURVE

A 20-horse power Apperson touring car, bearing license tag No. 587, was discovered Friday at the bottom of a 20-foot embankment on the "Death S Curve," two miles south of Clayton on the North and South road. The front wheels were bent under the body of the car, and the lamps and windshield were broken.

License tag 587 was issued to George H. Tontrup, manager of the American Car and Foundry Co. at St. Louis, but Mrs. Tontrup told a Post-Dispatch reporter the car had been sold some time ago to the Warren garage. The garage company declined to say who owns the automobile now or who was driving it when it was wrecked.

ALEX. EBERSON, PAINT COMPANY HEAD, KILLS SELF

Shoots Himself in the Office of His Business at 1800 Pine Street—Back From Three Weeks at Arkansas Health Resort—Ill of a Persistent Stomach Trouble.

"No, I'm Not Hungry," When Associate Asks About Lunch—He Shoots Himself at 1:30—Depressed Because of Physical Condition.

Men Returning Hear Shot, and Find Body With Bullet in Heart—Divorced by First Wife After Absorbing Trial.

Alexander Ebersson, 45 years old, president of the Ebersson Paint Co., shot and killed himself in the company's office suite at 1800 Pine street at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

He had recently returned from Mountain Valley, Ark., where he spent three weeks in an effort to restore his health. He had been under treatment for a stomach trouble.

On his return to St. Louis Ebersson complained to associates that he had lost 40 pounds. He seemed worried because of his inability to restore himself to his previous physical condition.

He arrived at his office at 9 a. m. Friday and was busy all morning with personal letters. At noon J. M. Lindley, general manager of the company, invited Ebersson to lunch.

"No, I'm not hungry," replied Ebersson. Lindley, returning from lunch, was entering the office when he heard a shot.

Ebersson was not at his desk. All other officials and employees were accounted for. The door to the room in which Ebersson had last been seen was locked.

Door Is Broken Down. Employees broke down the door. Ebersson was found dead with a revolver lying beside him on the lavatory floor.

Ebersson's first wife, whose maiden name was Fannie Wiedner, said him for a divorce in October, 1906. She alleged that he had been on terms of close friendship with a woman living at 179 North Grand avenue. Neighbors testified that he was known there as "Bud."

When the case was tried, Ebersson and his wife lived in separate apartments at the Washington Hotel.

Mrs. Ebersson was awarded a lump sum of $5000, $400 for attorney's fees, and $75 a month alimony, beginning with the opening of the trial. Ebersson was married in December, 1908, to Mrs. Rachel Sinniga, who had received a lump alimony of $15,000 from her husband, Harry H. Sinniga, when she was granted a divorce Nov. 7 of that year.

The first Mrs. Ebersson testified at the trial of her divorce suit that Ebersson often amused himself by pelted her with balls of money. He gave her $100 a month for dresses, she testified, and would not permit her to spend a cent of that allowance for any other purpose.

"He told me if I did not spend that much for clothes he would not give me any money at all," she testified. "Besides, he frequently took $50, $75 or $100 in bills, wadded it up into a little ball and threw it at me."

Cousin's Complaint. Mrs. Ebersson said her husband gave her so much money that she could not even attempt to compute it all. In spite of his liberality, however, Ebersson made a nervous wreck of her by "coming home at all hours of the morning," and caused her to lose the use of her voice for three years, she said.

PUTS ON A "DEATH SHIRT," IS KILLED WITHIN AN HOUR

John Kovach, of East St. Louis, Dons Garment Which He Considered an Emblem of Trouble and Gets Into a Saloon Quarrel About Church Merits.

SLAYERS SAY HE WAS STRUCK WITH BILLY

Explains That He Fired at His Assailant Without Taking Aim—Priest Visits Him in His Cell and Comforts Him.

John Kovach 30 years old, residing at 909 Valentine street, East St. Louis, put on what he called his "death shirt" when he went out Thursday evening, and in less than an hour he had been shot to death.

He quarreled in a saloon at Tenth and Valentine streets with John Kish, 27 years old, about their respective churches, and, according to Kish, was emphasizing his argument with a heavy "billy," when Kish, covering his face with one arm to ward off the blows, drew a revolver and fired blindly. The bullet pierced Kovach's right breast and he fell dead almost instantly.

The men had occupied adjoining houses in the same yard for a long time and were the warmest of friends, their acquaintances say.

Slayer a Church Worker.
Kish was instrumental in the erection of a little Hungarian church on Trembley avenue, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, about three months ago, and frequently helped give entertainments to get money for the congregation. He went into the saloon Thursday evening to see if the bartender had sold five tickets for a dance the congregation was to give Saturday night at Ruby's Hall, 311 East Broadway.

Kovach was in the saloon, and Kish bought a drink for him, he says. Kish then began talking to the bartender about the church, whereupon, he declares, Kovach approached him, and said: "I don't like your church. I am a member of the Greek Church."

Kish says he had "death shirt on." "I've got my death shirt on," he shouted, according to Kish, as he wielded the weapon, "and I don't care about your church."

Kish says he did his best to get away from Kovach, but believing that he would be beaten to death, he pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired without taking aim. The blows stopped suddenly and when Kish uncovered his face and looked around, Kovach lay silent in the street.

Kish ran home, where he was arrested. The garment Kovach called his "death shirt" was an ordinary shirt of gray flannel, such as laborers wear. Kish, when asked for an explanation of Kovach's expression, "death shirt," said he took it to mean Kovach intended to kill or harm somebody when wearing the garment.

Kish was locked up and an inquest ordered. The police failed to find the "billy" in Kovach's possession, but Kish showed them fresh bruises on his arms and shoulders which he says Kovach inflicted.

The Rev. Mr. Karvos of the Hungarian church visited Kish in his cell and said to him:

"The days of the martyrs are not yet gone by. We must suffer for our religion, even as the prophets of old suffered."

The Rev. Mr. Karvos then spoke consolingly to Kish, telling him not to be despondent or down-hearted, but to hope for the best.

MRS. PICKEL WINS SUIT

Supreme Court Orders Payment of $1490 Fees, $100 a Month.

Mrs. Ella Mulholland Pickel, wife of Frederick J. Pickel, has won her contest for alimony and court costs in her suit for separate maintenance. A decision of the Missouri Supreme Court Thursday ordered that $1400 for attorney's fees and alimony of $100 a month from the time her case was tried in June last, be paid her.

Pickel sued his wife for divorce, but withdrew the action. In her action for separate maintenance Mrs. Pickel alleged that Pickel had transferred his property to his father to avoid paying alimony.

WOMAN DOCTOR WHO WANTS TO BE CORONER

WOMAN IS UP FOR CORONER BECAUSE 'THIS IS OUR YEAR'

Dr. Lydia Hilliard Seeks Democratic Nomination and Believes She Will Win.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 10.—Dr. Lydia Hilliard, a prominent physician of this city, has filed her declaration as a candidate for Coroner. Miss Hilliard is not a suffragette, and she is impelled by no desire to aid "the cause." Her reason for becoming a candidate is that she believes she can win, and that she wants the office.

Viewing the prospect with the keen vision of a business woman, she saw signs of a Democratic year. So she filed as a Democrat, and the primaries of Aug. 6 will decide whether she is to be her party's candidate.

"I do not believe women should vote—not, at least, until they are educated in public matters," said Dr. Hilliard today. Women would be all right in public life if they knew enough to keep still and not interfere with everything; but if we were to have universal suffrage, affairs of state would be in a hopeless tangle for the next five or ten years.

"After that, the fact that women had the ballot might be to the advantage of the country, but education and better experience would come first."

Dr. Hilliard appears to be about 35 years old. She doesn't tell her age, not because she objects to having it known, she says, but for the reason that nobody is interested in knowing it. Asked why she wished to be Coroner, she said:

"Well, I can't say exactly why; but I think I am capable and just concluded to get into the race."

She was reminded that in case of the absence of the Sheriff from the county, his death or other disability, the law requires that the Coroner assume the duties of the Sheriff.

"That doesn't terrify me a bit," the doctor replied. "I never was especially backward or timid about such things."

Dr. Hilliard said it was her intention to make a vigorous campaign for the nomination. She expressed the belief that she would win.

West's Speech Much Money.
"I am going to get out and ask the people to vote for me," she said. "I shall appeal to my friends and acquaintances first, and then to others. I don't expect to spend a great deal of money, and I don't think the public will expect it of me, but I am going to do a lot of hard work. This is our year and the Democrats should carry Buchanan County."

It is thought that Dr. Hilliard was inspired to stand for the nomination for coroner by the action of Dr. C. F. Byrd, who has been Coroner for four years, in appointing his wife deputy coroner. During Coroner Byrd's term he has been absent from the county much of the time, and in his absence all Coroner's cases have been attended to by Mrs. Byrd, who is not a physician.

The question of a woman's eligibility was raised at the courthouse when Dr. Hilliard filed her declaration, but the prosecuting attorney looked up the law and found nothing requiring that the office of Coroner be filled by a man.

INJUNCTION AGAINST MUSICIANS IS ASKED

Cherokee Theater Files Suit to Prevent Boycott and Picketing of House.

An injunction suit was filed in the Circuit Court, Friday, by the Cherokee Theater Company against the Musicians' Mutual Benefit Association and its officers, asking that the defendants be enjoined from picketing a boycott and establishing pickets around the company's theater at Cherokee and Ohio streets. The suit names the officers of the Musicians' Association as Owen Miller, president; E. K. Howell, recording secretary; V. C. Wolf, financial secretary; and Joseph Bergmann, treasurer.

900 MINERS IN A REVOLVER BATTLE, 5 SHOT, 1 FATALLY

Two Crews Fight When One Refuses to Turn Back From Work at Demand of Other.

ARRESTS ARE EXPECTED

Workers Near Benld Told They Can Return to Mine by Union, One Crew Stays Out.

One man was fatally injured and four others suffered serious gunshot wounds in a revolver battle between two mine crews, each composed of 450 men, near Benld, Ill., 45 miles northeast of St. Louis, at 6:30 a. m., Friday. Charles Ledkens was shot in the stomach. He was taken to the Litchfield Hospital and physicians said he would die. Tony Coello was in the ankle and Mike Guma in the shoulder. One of William B. Monahan's arms was broken by a blow from a club. The last four named are expected to recover.

Voted to Go to Work.
Half of the men are employed in Mine No. 2 of the Superior Coal Co., which has three pits at Benld. The other half compose the crew of Mine No. 3. The crews have been idle since arbitration to avert a strike was begun throughout the State a few weeks ago.

Early this week the Benld local was informed by State officials of the union that the men might return to work, pending a referendum vote on some unimportant matters. Then No. 1 and No. 3 crews, whose members reside at Gillespie, a mile and a half north of Benld, voted to go to work. Crew No. 2, composed of Benld men, voted to stay out.

When crew No. 3 was on its way to work, Friday, it was met at short distance out of Benld by crew No. 2, with orders to "turn back or be killed."

Both sides drew revolvers and began firing into the air, but as the situation grew more serious the No. 3 crew fired a volley at their opponents, hitting the five men. Both crews then returned to their homes. A number of arrests are expected.

Crew No. 1 started to work Thursday morning, but was met in the same place by crew No. 2. A fight with clubs ensued and one of the men was badly bruised. Crew No. 1 went home after the fight.

CANDIDATE COWHERD IN CONFERENCE HERE

Kansas Cityan, Nominee of Democrats 4 Years Ago, on Speaking Tour.

W. S. Cowherd of Kansas City, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, spent Friday in St. Louis conferring with Democratic leaders. He has finished a tour of Audrain, Ralls, Howard and other North Missouri counties, and will go next week to the Southern group of counties, including Laclede, Phelps, Pulaski and Crawford.

"The Democratic party is in splendid shape in this State," said Cowherd. "While presidential politics has been monopolizing the attention of the voters, they are now beginning to think of their State and local candidates."

Cowherd was the nominee of the party four years ago, but was defeated at the general election by Gov. Hadley. The Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor will be nominated at a statewide primary election Aug. 6.

How I Made My Hair Grow

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertisements and various prescriptions but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy as it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I tried that many of the things I tried were positively injurious, and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state, beyond doubt, the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have been benefited. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in its own form. I have found that it not only stopped the falling of my hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of my hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, or drachm Lavender Compound, 2 oz. You like it perfumed, add a few drops of the perfume. Mix thoroughly with the other ingredients. This, however, is not necessary.

Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp. Go to your druggist and ask for an eight-ounce bottle containing six ounces of Bay Rum, or a two-ounce bottle of Lavender Compound, and a two-ounce bottle of the perfume. Mix the ingredients thoroughly in your own home. Add the Menthyl Crystals to the Bay Rum and the Lavender Compound, and the Tolu-Kalon Perfume. This mixture is ready for use.

15,000 MEXICANS SKIRMISHING; BIG BATTLE EXPECTED

Federal and Rebel Forces Line Up Around Torreon, Gateway to the North and Decisive Clash of the Campaign Is Anticipated at Any Moment.

GEN. HUERTA SENDS NEWS FROM FRONT

Tells of Routs of Insurrecto Bands, in One of Which the Rebels Lost 90 Men, as Against 7 Killed on Federal Side.

By Associated Press.

EL PASO, Tex., May 10.—The Mexican Federal army has repulsed the rebel advance guard of Gen. Orozco, and sharp skirmishes are now in progress, preliminary to what is expected to be the most decisive battle of the revolution. Nearly 15,000 men are engaged on both sides, and the objective point of the rebels is Torreon, the railroad gateway of Northern Mexico. The Federals are protecting the city from all sides.

The Government forces yesterday killed 90 insurgents and lost only seven men.

In a telegraph office improvised in a box car on a desert, 50 miles north of Torreon, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, commander of the Federal army of Northern Mexico, transmitted today by telegraph to an Associated Press representative here, news of military developments of the last 24 hours. The box car stood a few miles from the town of Bermejillo.

Wire 1000 Miles Long.

The wire had been set up direct to the Federal camp, being routed from El Paso by way of Laredo, Tex., Monterey and Torreon, a roundabout circuit eastward of more than 1000 miles. This was made necessary by the seizure of all telegraphic lines directly south of here by the rebels. Gen. Huerta talked enthusiastically of the future battle.

"Yesterday, Thursday, Gen. Rabago completely routed 1000 rebels at Zaratez and Tlahualilo, both near Torreon," said Gen. Huerta. "The rebels lost 90 dead and many wounded, while our loss was several dead and a few wounded. The rebels were driven back in hasty flight and were pursued by cavalry under Gen. Villa.

"On Wednesday we heard that a detachment of 1000 rebels were advancing on us and we organized a column which went by railroad under Gen. Rabago. To cut off retreat we sent overland volunteer and regular cavalry from the forces of Villa. They arrived about 6 o'clock Thursday morning and immediately attacked the rebels. As the fight became more intense, Gen. Rabago arrived and flanked the rebels. He had with him artillery and machine guns. The fight lasted six hours. We completely routed the enemy and without exaggeration, one can say they ran like rats. Our losses were seven wounded and two killed."

"A telegram has just been brought to me from Gen. Trucy Aubert at Cuatro Ciénegas which says the rebel chief, Salazar, was routed and is running away in the direction of Sierra Mojada," said Gen. Huerta.

Close in on Bermejillo.

Couriers from the advance guard at this juncture arrived, according to Gen. Huerta, and informed him that the Federal outposts were in possession of the Mexican Central Railroad up to within 12 miles of Bermejillo.

No communication was had here with the rebel front early today, but the Federal officials here concede they met stubborn resistance in the initial skirmishing.

Today is the first anniversary of the surrender of Juarez to Madero, and equally important developments in Mexican history are said to be expected.

Assembly's Attitude on Paying Grade Land Damages CITY COUNCIL.

(Those in Favor of City Assuming Consequential Damages at Grade Crossings.)

JOHN H. GUNDELACH: I favor the city paying the consequential damages at the Wabash and Rock Island crossings on the Forest Park boundary to get rid of these extremely dangerous crossings. As a general proposition, I favor making the railroads pay all of the cost.

WILLIAM E. CAULFIELD: We want the grade crossings abolished. Let the city pay the consequential damages, if an agreement is made that actual work will be begun immediately to eliminate the death traps without litigation.

JOHN T. DAVIS: I am on record as favoring the payment of the consequential damage as the best means of eliminating the dangerous points. I have not changed my mind.

CHARLES ESPENSHIED: It will be the best investment the city ever made, if it assumes the consequential damages in return for the immediate elimination of grade crossings.

FRED W. EVERS: I favor the payment by the city, provided it will bring about a special elimination of the dangerous crossings, and provided the cost to the city will not be too much.

EDWIN J. PAULE: I have already said.

(Against Payment of Damages by the City.)

JULIUS HALLER: The law says the railroads should abolish grade crossings at their own expense. I am in favor of the law taking its course.

DR. PAUL R. FLETCHER: As a general proposition, I believe the railroads should pay all of the cost, but each case should stand on its own merits. I do not want to be a stumbling block in the way of an agreement at some crossings where the consequential damages would not be too large.

JOHN S. LEAHY: As a general proposition, I believe we should compel the railroads to pay all of the cost. I would consider each case as it is presented, and might deviate from that principle in exceptional cases.

Noncommittal.

L. E. Lehmberg.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

(In Favor of City Paying Damages.)

WILLIAM F. ECKELMANN: I would favor a compromise agreement with the railroads if the city's share of the cost is not too much. I take this position only to get immediate action and save lives at grade crossings instead of delays and years of litigation.

GEORGE ENGEL: I have always been in favor of the city paying the consequential damages to get quick results. Experience has shown us that coercive legislation does not eliminate the grade crossings.

ROY EILERS: At crossings where the city requires railroads to adopt a costlier system of separating the grades than would be possible by another method, I favor the payment of consequential damages by the city, at least, up to the increased expense to which the railroads are compelled to spend. If the cheapest method is adopted, the railroads ought to pay all of the cost.

ANDREW GAZZOLIO: As a matter of compromise to get rid of grade crossings without years of litigation, I believe the city should pay. It is more commendable to save lives by a compromise than to pay large fees to lawyers to fight lawsuits, where amicable settlements can be reached at comparatively small cost.

EUGENE B. GREGORY: Whenever a life can be saved at small cost I believe in saving that life. If the city pays the consequential damages, the grade crossings will be abolished and several lives will be saved. I favor rushing the agreement along.

EUGENE F. HALE: Let the city pay. Igniting years of litigation and legal quibbles is a poor argument. The best plan is to save the lives which might be lost pending litigation.

NATHAN H. HALL: I would vote for the city to pay half of the consequential damages to get the grade crossings quickly abolished.

(Against City Paying.)

ROBERT H. BISCHOFF: The law says the railroads should pay all costs. Let them pay it.

JAMES J. GALLAGHER: The railroads ought to eliminate the grade crossings and the law says they shall pay all costs. They ought to be forced to do both.

AUGUST GIEGERICH: The law says the railroads shall eliminate the grade crossings and they should pay all cost.

WILLIAM IGGE: When the law says that railroads shall abolish grade crossings and pay the cost I believe in compelling them to do it.

JOHN H. MCCARTHY: I am not in favor of the city assuming any part of the duty of the railroads. Let the railroads obey the law.

CHARLES E. MOHRSTADT: I will not favor a compromise with the railroads to get them to do something the law says they must do.

JESSE M. BARNETT: Let the railroads pay, their full share. The law says they shall pay it all. Then that is their share of the cost.

JOHN H. SOMMERICH: Let the city pay and get rid of the dangerous crossings.

In Favor of the City Paying Part.

Assembly Favors Sharing Cost of Grade Separation

roads to separate the grades, but the grade crossings are still there. The Tower Grove crossing ordinance, which was passed, compelling the railroad to pay all of the cost, has been in court several years, and is still pending. The Chouteau avenue ordinance is still in litigation while lawyers look for technicalities by which they may defeat it.

More than a dozen ordinances instructing railroads to abolish grade crossings will be submitted to the Assembly by the Board of Public Improvements within the next few weeks. If the lawmakers vote to authorize the city to assume the consequential damages, the work of construction will begin this summer. If ordinances are passed placing the consequential damages on the railroads, a delay in litigation is sure and the crossings will remain danger points.

GIRL LAYS PLANS FOR HER WEDDING, DRINKS ACID, DIES

Miss Julia Bowen of East St. Louis Takes Fatal Draft at Home of Parents.

When merrily making plans for her wedding, which was to have taken place one week from Sunday, Miss Julia Bowen, 15 years old, of 323 Pigott avenue, East St. Louis, drank carbolic acid at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, and fell unconscious in the presence of her family and her fiancé, Harry Nelson, 18 years old.

She died a short time later at St. Mary's Hospital. Nelson rode with her to the hospital in an ambulance and was at her bedside when she died. Later he remained with the body at a private morgue until it was taken away to be prepared for burial.

Miss Bowen was employed in a St. Louis factory and Nelson met her at the Valentine street ferry Thursday evening, when she returned from work. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that she seemed happy and talked of the coming wedding and the home they were to have.

When they arrived at the Bowen home, Nelson stopped at the gate to talk with the girl's brother, Milby Bowen Jr., while she went into the house and began joking with members of the family. A few minutes later she went out, saying she was going to a drug store to get some medicine for a pet raccoon. It is believed, however, that she went to get the poison with which she killed herself.

When she returned, the family and Nelson were at supper, and her mother called to her to come into the dining room at once.

"I'll be there in a minute, mother," she called as she walked into the parlor. A moment later she screamed, and said: "Harry, come here!"

Nelson and the girl's father rushed into the parlor. "Take this, Harry," she said to Nelson, holding out their engagement ring. "I won't need it." Then she collapsed.

Nelson and Miss Bowen's parents were stunned and mystified by her act. They declared they could attribute it to nothing but temporary insanity, probably due, they thought, to excessive happiness, which momentarily unbalanced her.

She was in the best of health, and her father and mother had planned to give her the most elaborate wedding supper within their means.

Explosives Loaded on Ship.

NORFOLK, Va., May 10.—With 300 barrels of the petroleum and 30 drums of gasoline already in her hold, the British steamer Eva today will take on 100 pounds of dynamite in Hampton Roads. The Eva is bound to Curacao, Dutch West Indies. She carries a crew of 25 men, but none of them appear to know what use would be made of the dynamite.

Prudent landlords and agents never let their properties remain vacant—they list them in the Post-Dispatch want columns.

JOHN S. LEAHY: I favor payment by the city if the actual work of elimination is begun within 30 days after the ordinance is passed. If the railroads want to delay more than that, we ought to compel them to pay all of the cost.

JOSEPH LAWTON: Let the city pay and abolish the grade crossings. Let the city pay the first and argue afterward.

ANTHONY F. ITTNER: As a compromise to get rid of grade crossings quickly I favor payment by the city of the consequential damages. The railroads ought to pay it, but that will take years of litigation and not accomplish much.

JOSEPH P. METHUEN: If we can get the grade crossings abolished by paying the consequential damages I favor the plan. Years of litigation does not seem to accomplish the purpose, and the grades should be separated.

DAVID W. OLYARR: The best way to get the immediate elimination of grade crossings is for the city to pay the consequential damages. I favor it.

E. H. RABENBERG: I favor an agreement by which the grade crossings will be actually eliminated quickly. Therefore I favor payment by the city to bring this about.

JOHN H. SOMMERICH: Let the city pay and get rid of the dangerous crossings.

When Women Are Pale

Health Glow Better Than Rouge

Women who are pale and feel compelled to resort to cosmetics to give their complexions a "natural" color will be pleased to know a better way.

Pallor is caused by poor, thin blood—nothing else. If your blood is as rich and red as it ought to be, the skin will have that ruddy glow of health so much desired.

Miss Clara Wohlers of Brooklyn says: "My blood became thin and poor last spring, making me pale and nervous. I had heard that Vinol was a splendid thing for this condition, so I began using it and received great benefit. It has restored my healthy color and made me feel well again. Vinol is an excellent tonic."

We say positively that there is nothing like Vinol to enrich and purify the blood, and build up weak, run-down people. The taste is delicious and even children like to take it.

You can use Vinol without any risk, for we guarantee it to be satisfactory and pay back your money if it is not. Chester Kent & Co., Chemists. For sale by Wolf-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.

GIRL WHO DIES BY ACID AFTER MAKING PLANS FOR HER WEDDING

MISS JULIA BOWEN

WOMAN DIES IN VACANT HOUSE 12 HOURS AFTER BLOW

Chicago Store Tags on Clothing of Body Found in Los Angeles Building.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 10.—Clothing bearing the tag of a Chicago department store may lead to the identification of a well-dressed woman whose murdered body was found here late yesterday in a newly completed house. All identification marks have been furnished to the Chicago police.

The woman was a brunette, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and about 30 years old. Physicians said today she had lived 12 hours after being injured, and must have suffered great agony from a fracture in her skull apparently caused by a beer bottle lying nearby. The body was found by a carpenter's apprentice. Neighbors saw the woman in company with a short blonde man, who seemed to be posing as a real estate agent. An unsuccessful attempt to burn the body had been made.

WOMAN DRINKS POISON

Had Quarreled With Man for Whom She Kept House.

Miss Rose Brinkmann, 21 years old, tried to kill herself Thursday night by drinking sugar of lead, following a quarrel with Charles Schultz of 1407 North Thirteenth street, for whom she had been keeping house for three months.

The police say that Schultz ordered Miss Brinkmann away from the house in the afternoon and when she returned in the evening to get her clothing, she attacked him with a knife. In the struggle the girl's left wrist was cut and Schultz got a scratch on the face.

The girl is in a serious condition at the City Hospital and Schultz is locked up at the Carr Street Police Station.

GIVES $150 CHECK, IS HELD FOR FORGERY

In less than 24 hours after he had given Mrs. Belle White of 4161 Olive street a check for $150, Clarence Frick was arrested on a forgery charge. The check was supposed to have been signed by the Honduras Development Co. of St. Paul and was drawn on a St. Paul bank.

C. E. Hayden, with offices in the Liggett Building, called on Mrs. White to collect the rent, and Frick, who owed her $30, gave her the check for $150. He said Friday at police headquarters that he supposed it would take a week for the check to reach St. Paul and a report of its worthlessness get back to St. Louis.

Hayden deposited the check at once, and when it reached St. Paul notification of its being forged was wired to St. Louis, and Frick was arrested. He admits serving three years in the penitentiary at Stillwater, Minn., for forgery.

HUSBANDS LOVE TOO UNSELFISH, SAYS WIFE

One of the indignities alleged by Mrs. Lulu Engel of 360A Arsenal street in her divorce petition against Martin Engel, filed Friday, is that her husband suggested she should go out and find some other man "to love her a little."

Mrs. Engel says her husband posed as a single man and became engaged to a young woman, who prepared her trousseau to marry him before she found he already had a wife and child.

On one occasion, Mrs. Engel says, her husband invited a man to the house whom she had never seen before, and asked him to spend the evening, "and amuse the old lady" while he went out to call on some friends. Mrs. Engel has been separated from her husband for a year and says he is a civil engineer employed in East St. Louis. She asks the custody of her 3-year-old son, Russell.

the Secret of a Car's Upkeep

Note the cars whose designers are working toward simplicity. A study of them shows how upkeep decreases in proportion to the decrease in the number of parts. There are fewer parts to look after, adjust and repair. And upkeep cost must drop in proportion.

Note, when you see the New Self-Starting Hudson '33,' its simplicity—for it has approximately 1000 fewer parts than the average automobile. And your upkeep is insignificant when your choice is the NEW SELF-STARTING HUDSON '33.'

In this respect motor car engineers grant that the Hudson is a distinct advance in automobile designing. For it is the latest car of Howard E. Coffin, the foremost American engineer. He has built six famous cars, more than any other engineer. Yet he has never created a failure.

And several of his earlier cars still sell as leaders in their classes. When first announced they were the sensations of their years. But his latest achievement—and naturally his greatest—is the New Self-Starting Hudson '33.' It is dust-proof. Every part is within easy reach.

Come see Howard E. Coffin's masterpiece today.

Our temporary downtown salesroom open daily until May 15th. Our permanent West End establishment open until 9:30 every evening and on Sundays.

These are some of the Girls' Dresses in this sale at $2.75

The Entire Sample Line of Girls' Dresses From One of New York's Noted Makers—$4 to $7.50 Dresses, $2.75

500 Girls' Dresses, delightfully new—charmingly fashioned—beautifully made—all at one price Saturday, and that price less than half what the majority of them were intended to retail for! Some are a little soiled—most of them hardly noticeable, however—and there are very few at all similar.

They are all warm-weather Dresses, many styles, suitable for graduation dresses—the great majority of them, white with beautiful ribbon sashes, and elaborately lace-trimmed.

Girls' Summer Dresses, of tissues, ginghams, chambrays, percales, voiles, marquisettes, batistes, lawns, swisses and reps, in stripes and checks, figured effects, plain color and all white!

Many are charmingly trimmed with real laces, hand and allover embroidery, dainty little pin tucks, self-folds, ribbons, in high and Dutch necks, and elbow and three-quarter length sleeve styles.

Best of all, there are all sizes from 6 to 14 years, although not in every style, of course, so early choosing is decidedly advisable.

—Saturday Only, $2.75

for Girls' Sample Dresses of beautiful washable materials, usually $4, $5, $6 and $7.50.
(Third Floor.)

SPECIAL NOTE—See the Saturday Globe and Republic tomorrow about an exceptional showing of Misses' new Suits, Dresses and Coats for Summer wear—just received in the Misses' Section.

ROOSEVELT SAYS TAFT CAN'T WIN WHEN PEOPLE VOTE

Former President Says a Vote for President Is Vote for the Bosses.

RECENT PRIMARIES CITED

Of 256 Delegates Chosen by Direct Ballots 216 Are Against Executive.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The Roosevelt Committee today gave out the following copy of a letter from Col. Roosevelt to R. A. Caswell of Minneapolis:

"New York, May 10, 1912.—Hon. R. A. Caswell, chairman of the Roosevelt Committee and Clerk of the Supreme Court, Minneapolis, Minn.:
"I wish it had been possible for me to go again to Minnesota. Unfortunately it is physically impossible.

"Nine states have now held presidential primaries, or their equivalent—North Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Oregon, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maryland. These states, the only ones in which there has been a free chance for the expression of the popular will, are to be represented by 256 delegates in the Chicago convention.

"Forty of these delegates are instructed for President Taft and 216 are against him. He has carried two of the nine states—New Hampshire and Massachusetts—while in Massachusetts the Roosevelt delegates-at-large were elected by over twice the majority which Mr. Taft obtained on preferential vote.

"In all the nine states together about three out of every four of the Republicans who voted at the primaries were against Mr. Taft. If the primaries could be held in all the states there would undoubtedly be no substantial variation from these figures and Mr. Taft could by no possibility have 200 votes in the Chicago convention. Mr. Taft's chance of renomination lies solely in securing at Chicago delegates who will misrepresent the will of the people.

"He can get these delegates, not in the primary States, but in the convention States, where delegates are chosen under the old system, and even in these States he can only get where the State is ruled by a boss.

"After a prolonged experience of me as President, practically all of the big bosses in the Republican party dislike me so heartily that they opposed Mr. Taft's nomination because I favored it. They were afraid that Mr. Taft would give them the same kind of trouble that I had given them.

"After three years and a half experience of Mr. Taft since he has been elected, these same men have turned around and heartily favor his renomination. They were opposed to me four years ago and they are opposed to me now. They were opposed to Mr. Taft four years ago when they had not tried him as president, and they heartily support him now.

"These men include for instance, Mr. Gallinger in New Hampshire, Mr. Aldrich in Rhode Island, Mr. Penrose in Pennsylvania, Mr. Keating in Indiana, Mr. Lorimer in Illinois, Messrs. Guggenheim and Evans in Colorado, Mr. Calhoun and the Southern Pacific Railway crowd in California and the Amalgamated Copper crowd in Montana; and in your own State they include Mr. Smith and Mr. Tawney.

"The fight is a nation-wide fight of the plain people against the bosses. There is just one candidate whom it is possible to nominate against the bosses, and that is myself. Every vote for every other candidate from now on is in reality a vote for Mr. Taft. The fight is against the bosses in Minnesota, as it is everywhere else.

A vote for Mr. Taft is a vote for the bosses; it is a vote for Lorimer, for Penrose, for Guggenheim, for Gallinger, and for all the rest of them and it is a vote for these men whether it is cast in Minnesota or in Massachusetts, or in Ohio, or New Jersey or California.

"I became a candidate only when I became convinced that no other progressive candidate could by any possibility be nominated against Mr. Taft. The contest has gone so far as to make it now evident that I certainly can be nominated against Mr. Taft and that either I shall be nominated or else a reactionary will be renominated.

"It is also evident that not only every progressive Republican, but every man who believes in decency and honesty in politics, who is against boss rule and for the genuine rule of the people, and is for the elimination of special privilege and for the efficient endeavor to secure social and industrial justice, can achieve his purposes only by supporting my candidacy.

"My personal interest is of no concern one way or the other, but it happens that at this time I typify and embody the great cause which can only be furthered by supporting me. Almost everywhere where I have been able to appear personally in this campaign and fight the bosses, we have beaten them and I ask that Minnesota stand beside Oregon and Illinois, Pennsylvania and Nebraska, Maine, Kansas and Maryland in this fight.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Croak's Big Sale of Fine Suits Has Taken This City by Storm

The entire surplus stock of one of the world's leading makers involved, at reductions of 25% to 50%.

LIKE an avalanche, St. Louis clothing buyers swooped down on us last Saturday, and they've been coming strong all week. Tomorrow this great sale of finely tailored suits will be at its best. The manufacturer's loss was so great that we can afford to sell them at these unheard-of low prices:

$11 for choice of 460 suits, made up in the very latest styles, in the widest variety of smart pattern effects; you'd never expect to buy such a suit for $11.

$14 for choice of 300 suits, purest woolsens, every one a beauty; grays, tans, browns, fancy mixtures; best suits in every way we have ever offered for $14.

$17 for choice of 225 suits that are exceptionally well tailored, as good tailoring as any man could ask; perfect fitting; you'll appreciate the saving at $17.

We want you to see these goods before buying. They're displayed in our windows. Croak is on the floor as usual.

PRETTY GIRL WANTS LUCK

She Is Handsome, She Acknowledges, but Not Fortunate.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 10.—Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan has received a letter from a Santa Clara County girl, who wants a lucky license number for her automobile.

She says: "I should like a number that does not begin or end in 13 or 23. I'd like a number that would divide by three. I'll tell you why. I was born neither lucky nor rich, only handsome. And that's the worst luck of any. I'm not fortunate, and I've had experiences (really awful experiences) with the number 13."

AURORA CAPITALIST DIES

John Somarindyk Taken Ill on an Auto Ride.

AURORA, Ill., May 10.—John Somarindyk, a capitalist of this place, whose wealth has been estimated as high as $5,000,000, died suddenly at his home last night after being taken ill while automobile riding.

Somarindyk had attended a ball game in the afternoon, and was about the streets until after 7 o'clock. Death is believed to have been due to hardening of the arteries. He was interested in many Aurora enterprises and was a large holder of real estate. He was 55 years old.

SPEAKER EXPECTS HOUSE TO APPROVE BUDGET TONIGHT

Ways and Means Committee in Session Hears Delegates' Suggestions on Bill.

THEY WANT AN AUTO, TOO

Ten Million Appropriation Gives 15 to Others, but No Rides for Legislators.

The Ways and Means Committee of the House of Delegates held another session Friday, to hear suggestions from members of the House as to whether the appropriation bill should be passed or amended at the night session.

Speaker Sommerich told reporters that he thought the bill would be approved by the House in the same manner in which it had passed the Council, despite the fact that it was "kicked around" considerably at the caucus of the members of the House with the Ways and Means Committee Thursday afternoon.

Includes 15 Autos. The appropriation bill, as compiled by Comptroller Tausig and passed by the Council calls for $10,338,000 to run the city departments for the next year. The appropriation includes about 15 automobiles for various city departments, but none for the use of members of the House of Delegates. The delegates wanted an automobile, and the refusal of the Comptroller to let them have one seems to have started some of the objections to the bill. The opinion of the delegates seems to be that everyone is going to ride in autos except the House members.

So, at the caucus, when it was learned that the bill gave Assessor and Collector of Water Rates Burton four automobiles, Burton was sent for forthwith to tell what he was going to do with all those automobiles. Burton explained that he now had four horses and buggies, and that with automobiles he could do more work and save the cost of the machines the first year.

Then someone noticed that there was $23,000 in the bill for the maintenance of the city garage. It appeared to some of the members that there must be a great many automobiles in a place that it takes $23,000 to keep up, and the committee decided that before the night session they would visit the garage and make an investigation.

Delegate McCarthy had 15 objections to the bill. Among other things he objected to $20,000 appropriated for the State militia, but when informed that this was rendered necessary by a previous ordinance, withdrew his objection.

President Allison of the Public Service Commission was sent for to explain why the commission needs $30,000 for the next year, when it has turned back into the treasury $4000 from last year's fund. Allison said the money was required to finish the United Railways report and to complete the telephone companies investigation.

Igoe Is Surprised. Other members objected to the appropriation of $15,000 for golf links in Forest Park, but when it was explained that this item included eight baseball grounds, 35 tennis courts and a football grounds, the objections were not pressed.

Delegate Igoe said that he was surprised that all objections to the bill were on the ground of too much money being spent in this or that department. He said he had expected that some delegates would contend there was not enough funds allowed for the hospital and other eleemosynary institutions. Igoe said he thought the House would pass the bill without amendment.

Behind Closed Doors. The committee conducted its hearing on the bill behind closed doors. Speaker Sommerich said he thought that, as they were discussing what disposition to make of the people's money reporters should be admitted. But Delegate Elgel, chairman of the committee, and who presided at the meeting, ruled against Sommerich.

"These reporters," said Elgel, "wrote about us in the newspapers and have editorials written about what we do and I'll not have any of them at my committee meetings."

DETECTIVE IN DEAF MUTE'S CASE HELD

Clifford Bollyn, Endeavoring to Find a Missing Husband Has No License to Act as Sleuth.

Clifford A. Bollyn, a private detective, was on the trail of a wife deserter when Night Chief of Police Gillaspay nabbed him Thursday night and ordered his incarceration. Bollyn had accompanied Mrs. Edith Jones of Bloomfield, Stoddard Co., Mo., to Police Headquarters. Mrs. Jones, a deaf mute, related in writing to Gillaspay that her husband, Darius Jones, also a deaf mute, left her a year ago and that she had retained Bollyn to look for him. She paid Bollyn $10 down, she said, and was to have paid him $15 more when he found the man. Bollyn summoned her to St. Louis, she said, by telegram to the effect that he had found her husband in Springfield, Ill.

Mrs. Jones stated that Bollyn had informed her she would have to pay for a warrant for her husband's arrest and that he had escorted her to Police Headquarters to assist her in obtaining a warrant. Bollyn, when questioned by the Chief, admitted he had no license to act as a private detective and the Chief ordered him held.

Mrs. Jones was cared for by the Police Matron Thursday night and Friday the police wired to Springfield, Ill., in an effort to find the husband. Bollyn is 28 years old and lives at 4317 Cook avenue.

DAHLMAN IS MAYOR AGAIN

OMAHA, Neb., May 10.—At a meeting of the newly elected commissioners of Omaha last night, Mayor James C. Dahlman was selected again to head the municipal government with the charge of the department of public title of mayor and with immediate charge of the department of public affairs.

The department of police, sanitation and public safety was assigned to John J. Ryder, who has been a prominent Omaha newspaper man.

BACHELORS TO ADOPT TWO SETS OF TWINS

Third Man Is Anxious to Become Foster Father of One Child.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Three wealthy young bachelors of Chicago have tired of spending their money recklessly and are anxious to adopt five 4-year-old boys. Two of the men want to become the foster father of twins, while the third prefers to adopt only one boy. The identity of the men is held a secret. Their wishes were made known through Dr. A. L. Lindsay Wynekoop, in an address before the Congress of Mothers last night. The boys will be well taken care of, it was said. In each case a governess will be appointed and all will wear fine clothes and play with costly toys. In addition they will be given the best education possible. Dr. Wynekoop said the men were afraid that if their identity became known they would be ridiculed. No boys have been selected thus far.

Arkansas Slayer's Wife Obtains
Clemency for Husband From Governor.

JONESBURG, Ark., May 10.—While Sheriff Hooten was making preparations to hang Walter Morgan, a convicted murderer today, he received a message from Gov. Donaghy, advising the Sheriff that Morgan's sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment. The eleventh hour action of the Governor was the result of the efforts of Morgan's wife, who had been pleading for a commutation. She was in the Governor's office when the message was sent.

Morgan killed a man named Pete Ellis here and was sentenced to death.

VESTA VICTORIA OF "FAMOUS 1912 FOLLIES"

GOLDIE HOOD.

VESTA VICTORIA IS IMITATED IN "FAMOUS FOLLIES"

Miss Goldie Hood Cleverly Mimics Celebrated London Music Hall Favorite.

Vesta Victoria really should congratulate Miss Goldie Hood, whom from her you would scarcely know, in "Famous Follies" clever show, where Vesta's own self seems to be the one whom on the stage you see, so very, very, very good is Vesta's "twin," Miss Goldie Hood.

The "Famous Follies" new and bright, will be produced next Tuesday night, when fun galore will be the rage upon the Century's ample stage. And when Miss Goldie Hood you spy, you'll surely say: "O me, O my! That never is Miss Goldie Hood. I can't believe it if I would! Vesta Victoria is the one whom now my optics rest upon!"

But all the same, and gospel true, Not Vesta 'tis who sings to you, About her comic woes and all, straight from a London music hall. Though you'd dispute it if you could, I tell you 'tis Miss Goldie Hood, "made up" as Vesta's very twin, until she seems in Vesta's skin!

And then, besides this mimic trick, Miss Hood is in the cast to stick, from first to last, since 'twould be wrong to limit her to Vesta's song. She'll play the part of Prudence, a sarcastic creature, so they say, and many a time she'll make you smile, even when her Vesta's gone a mile into the past of things forgot, because, alas, they linger not! Really and truly, you'll be good and tickled with Miss Goldie Hood, in "Famous Follies" new and bright, at the Century next Tuesday night.

ERUPTION ITCHED SO COULD NOT SLEEP

Skin Split and Bled. Almost Insane With Agony. Resinoid Cured.

If you are suffering from some itching, burning skin trouble, read what one jar of Resinoid Ointment, used with Resinoid Soap, did for Miss Rose Doernberg, of Martinsville, N. J. She writes: "April 9, 1912. The skin eruption I have been afflicted with came upon me about nine months or a year ago. It started on my chest and spread gradually. It was a rash the size of pinheads, and itched so much that I could not sleep at night. I was treated for about three months and it grew worse. In fact after five different prescriptions my chest became so sore and the skin so dry, that when I moved about doing my housework the skin would split and bleed, and between the itching and pain, I was almost insane with agony. I undertook to try Resinoid Ointment and Soap, and the first night's sleep I had in three months was when I used one jar of Resinoid Ointment, with the Resinoid Soap, and the rash was completely gone and I have not been troubled with it since, which is almost a year ago. It had entirely cured me of this torture."

Resinoid Soap and Resinoid Ointment stop itching instantly and quickly heal eczema, rashes, ringworm and other eruptions, as well as pimples, dandruff, boils, sores, ulcers, burns, scalds, wounds and itching. Get Resinoid Soap and Resinoid Ointment at 25c each, or apply to Dept. 25, Resinoid Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

'BORROWED FROM PACKERS,' CHARGE IN MEAT INQUIRY

Farm Department Solicitor Attacks Witness Before the House Committee.

ANGERS CONGRESSMAN

Allegation Denied, Woman Suspects Laxity of Inspection Passes Bad Food.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—George H. McCabe, solicitor for the Department of Agriculture, before the House Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Agriculture, which is considering the resolution introduced by Congressman Nelson of Wisconsin, providing for an investigation of the methods employed by the Government meat inspectors, attacked the character of one of the witnesses summoned by the committee.

Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane of Kalamazoo, Mich., an expert in hygiene and sanitation, had not concluded her testimony when Chairman Moss asked Nelson what other testimony he intended to produce. Nelson replied:

"I propose to put a practical man on the stand, one who spent seven years in the meat inspection service, and who resigned of his own accord a month ago—J. W. Burroughs."

"Put him on," said McCabe. "That man was forced out of the service for borrowing money from packers."

Statement Denounced.
"Mr. Chairman," Nelson replied, in a rage, "that statement is in line with the practice of the Department of Agriculture. Charges are denied by attacks on the reputations of others. A circular from the department says that this woman (pointing to Mrs. Crane), is in the pay of someone. I protest against this kind of treatment of witnesses heard by this committee."

Chairman Moss ordered the remarks of both McCabe and Nelson stricken from the record. J. W. Burroughs said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent: "There is absolutely no truth in Mr. McCabe's charge. I was not forced out of the department. On the contrary, I was asked to remain when I handed in my resignation. I never borrowed a penny from any packer in my life. I saw an opportunity to engage in business for myself, and that is why I relinquished my position as chief inspector for the Philadelphia District."

Quotes From Circular.
Mrs. Crane, in her testimony, pointed out the possibility of fraudulent meat despite Government inspection.

"Packers sold unwholesome and diseased meats before this law was passed," she declared, "and there is no reason to believe that they would not take advantage of any loophole and do the same thing again. I am under oath, and I make the statement that undoubtedly great quantities of unwholesome meat got into interstate traffic through the laxity of meat inspection."

Mrs. Crane quoted from a circular of Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, issued in 1907, in which the statement was made that much diseased meat was shipped into the South and that "the practice must be stopped." She maintained that the regulations of the department at the present time are not sufficient to stop the shipping of unwholesome meat to the South or elsewhere.

Ante-Mortem Inspection.
Another illustrated pamphlet issued by Dr. Melvin, entitled "The Federal Meat Inspection Service," was characterized by Mrs. Crane as "A Brief for the Packers." She said it had been written on false information and was in the interest of the beef packing industry.

In reference to the "all-in-a-bunch" ante-mortem inspection of meats, Representative Floyd asked Mrs. Crane: "Do you, of your own personal knowledge, know that inspections are made in this way?"

"I have the word of Dr. Bennett, the inspector in charge at Chicago, and of numerous inspectors, who have told me of this loose manner of making inspections."

Representative Sloan wanted to know whether inspectors could detect the presence of "lumpy jaw" in cattle, if cattle were passed by them four abreast.

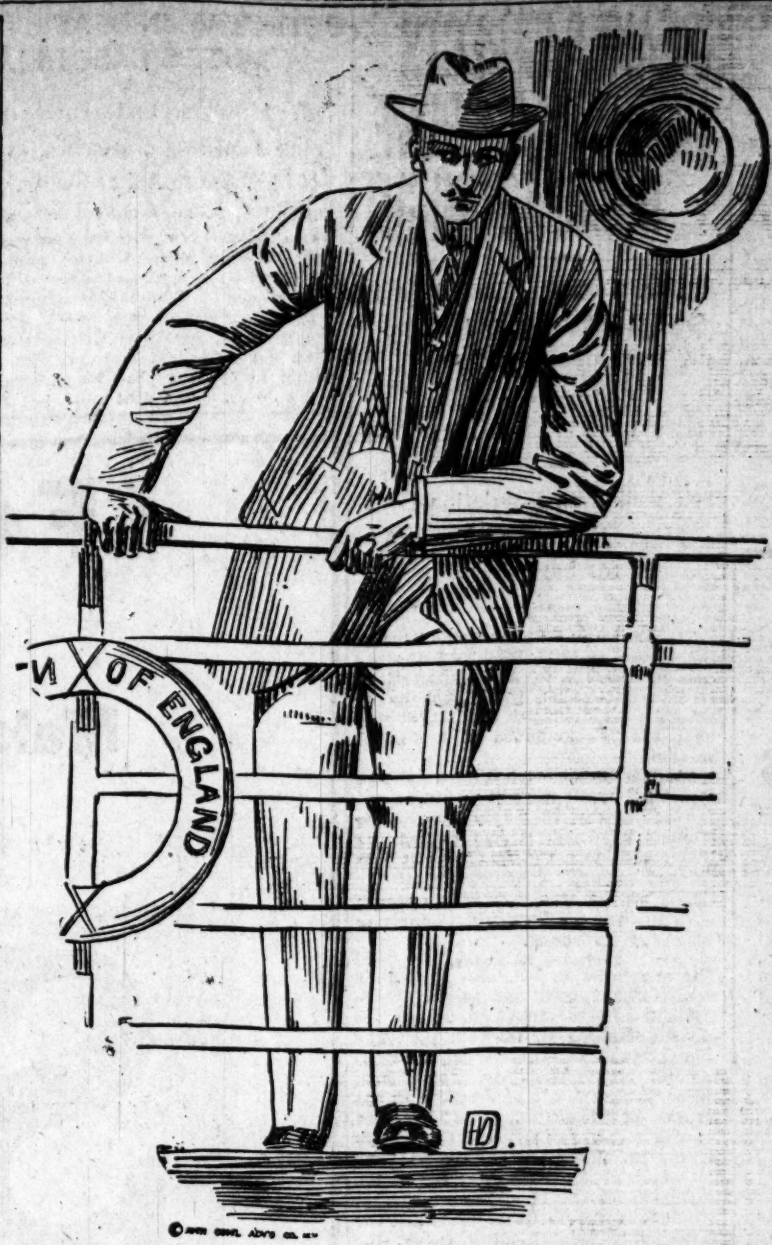

"It is impossible when the cattle are hurried past in that manner," replied Mrs. Crane.

WOMEN IN MINE RIOT; 2 MEN ARE SHOT BY TROOPS

Two Thousand Foreigners, Who Seize Workers, Charged by the State Police.

WOMEN BADLY BEAT MAN

Two Officers Are Battered With Stones at Scranton, Then Constabulary Fires.

By Associated Press.
SCRANTON, Pa., May 10.—Cayuga breaker of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Co., in North Scranton formed the background of a riotous demonstration today.

Foreign workers were leaders of the 2000 men and boys who assembled near the breaker to keep away men who were going to the necessary work. They were wild in their outcries, and defied the squad of local police who, an hour before, had been hurried from every city station on notice from the mine officials that trouble was threatened.

The idle workers broke through the police lines, rushed the fire rooms, and dragged out men, turned them over to others who beat them and threw them aside.

State police on duty all night at the Leggett's Creek mine, a mile away, hurried over, and their coming rallied the local police, and together the officers charged the mob. There were shots from the miners. Bricks, stones and clubs were thrown, and the officers drew their guns and began to force the crowd back.

Some shots were fired by the police as Policemen Peter Marker and Louis Davis fell, both with heads battered by cobbles. The State troopers rode into the crowd, firing their revolvers. Mike Flacka and another foreigner dropped, the former shot through the abdomen, the latter in the leg. The crowd then ran, and the police combined to drive them on toward the houses.

Two men and a half dozen women were arrested. William Littlejohn, going to fire duty at the Leggett's Creek mine, was badly beaten by women.

ASSERTS SIR COSMO OPPOSED SEA RESCUES

Witness at Titanic Inquiry Says Englishman Feared Overturning of Lifeboat.

LONDON, May 10.—The testimony given at the Board of Trade's Titanic inquiry by Charles Hendrickson, one of the firemen of the Titanic, who said the lifeboat he was on had not returned to the scene of the disaster, because Sir Cosmo and Lady Duff-Gordon insisted it would be dangerous to do so, was considered so important by the White Star company that its attorney, on the reopening of the inquiry today requested that the cross-examination of the witness be postponed.

The attorney desired time to consult with the surviving officers of the Titanic, who are on the way to England on board the Adriatic. The request was granted by the court.

Members of the crew were today examined as to how they left the Titanic, the number of passengers in their boats, and whether they returned to the scene of the disaster to try to rescue some of those in the water.

A steward who was in lifeboat No. 14, from which all the passengers were transferred to other boats, No. 14 returning to where the Titanic sank, said that although the boat's crew rowed about throughout the night, they found only three persons alive. He admitted on cross-examination, however, that some of those in the water might have been alive, but were unconscious and they only went to those who were crying for help.

GIRL OF 12 PLUNGES IN, SAVES DROWNING BOY

Lillian Boyer Has to Tow Him to Piling and Cling There Until Men Arrive.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 11.—The bravery of Lillian Boyer, 13 years old, saved Howard Bolte, 5-year-old son of August F. Bolte, cashier of the Second National Bank, from drowning in the Thoroughfare, back of Ventnor, when the boy tumbled overboard.

He hardly struck the water when his rescuer was overboard after him. She is a good swimmer, soon reached his side and worked him to the bulkhead. With one arm she held his head above water, while with the other she encircled a pile. There is a strong current and the water is 25 feet deep at the spot.

The pair were dragged ashore by workmen, who used a boat. Lillian insisted that Howard be pulled in first. He was resuscitated and taken in charge by his mother, Miss Boyer, who is the daughter of Alfred J. Boyer, ran away from the praises of the crowd.

YOU men of St. Louis have one of the greatest stocks of fine clothing in the world from which to choose your summer suit; there are only about three stores in the United States that carry as large an assortment of as we carry.

The thousands of men who have worn these clothes will attest for their high quality and the value that they have received for their money. If you have worn one of these suits, you know; if you have not, ask one of your friends who has worn them.

We sell Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes, because there is no need to make any argument about them; men who are at all posted about clothes know what they are; common sense tells you that it pays to buy clothes that you know something about, and to get with your purchase some assurance of satisfaction.

You can buy one of these suits for $15, $18, $20, $25, $30, $35 or $40; and at every price you'll get greater value for your money, and more genuine satisfaction, than you'll get for equal prices in any other make of clothes.

Make $10 on a $20 or $25 Suit

You can easily make $10 in value out of one of these $20 or $25 suits; the $20 suits are the kind that you pay $30 for elsewhere; the $25 ones are a full $35 value compared to clothes from other stores. Never before have we given so much quality at the price as we are giving in these $20 and $25 clothes.

Every new style of this season is represented amongst them; English models, conservative, American models; two-button and three-button fronts, long or short lapels; blues, grays, browns, tans, purples.

All sizes—stout men as big as 52 inches in the chest or tall men as large as 6 feet 5 inches can be fitted here with as much ease as the average-built man. Inspect these great $20 and $25 values closely; they're the biggest money's worth you have ever seen.

BOSTON HOSPITAL IS TO TREAT 'THE BLUES'

Will Act on Theory That Insanity Is Form of Physical Sickness and Can Be Cured.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 10.—Boston is to have a hospital for "the blues," the first of the kind in the world. The institution will be psychopathic, though markedly different in scope from the wards of that name attached to Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

The hospital for "the blues" will be a branch of the Boston State Hospital and will be conducted on the theory that all insanity cases are simply forms of physical sickness which can be alleviated with proper treatment. To that end the place will be a sort of clearing house for those whose brains are out of gear. They will be differentiated and classified, according to the kinds of mental diseases they show, and remedies will be sought for each class of patients.

There will be an out-patient department for dealing with inpatient insanity, and it is expected that this branch of the work will afford striking opportunities for the relief of many mildly insane persons without subjecting them to the stigma of insanity.

Kansas City Brewery Strike Off. KANSAS CITY, May 10.—The strike of the brewery workers here, which for a time threatened to bring about a beer famine and force thirsty Kansans to go without their favorite beverage, has been settled. It was announced that the strikers were given half they asked and that the increase range from 35 cents a week to several dollars.

PENNANT GAMES IN POST-DISPATCH LEAGUE SATURDAY

Will Cut Down the Number of Public School Banner Nines for Final Battle.

BIG ATTENDANCE LIKELY

Gold Medals Will Be Given to Members and Two Substitutes of the Champions.

The final struggle for the pennant in the Post-Dispatch League for public school baseball teams will begin Saturday morning. Each member and two substitutes of the team that wins the pennant will be given a gold medal by the Post-Dispatch.

The teams contesting Saturday will be those that have won the banners in their various divisions. The League consisted of 48 school teams, divided into eight divisions. In two of the divisions the championship has not been clearly decided, and no games are scheduled for Saturday for the winners in these divisions.

Teams to Play Saturday. The teams that will play Saturday and the divisions of which they are champions follow: Blow, South No. 1; Madison, Central No. 1; Clark, West No. 1; Fanning, West No. 2; Sigel, South No. 2; Emerson, North No. 2. Sigel will play Emerson on the grounds at Belt and Delmar avenues. Fanning will meet Clark at Forest Park. Madison and Blow will play on the grounds at 800 South Broadway.

Ashland appears to have won the pennant in North Division No. 1 but no return has been made to the manager of the league on a postponed game that school was to have played with Bryan Hill.

Great Interest in Finals. In Central Division No. 2 the Hodges School team admits having played a "ringer" in its last game with Lincoln. The game has been thrown out to be played over again. If Lincoln wins the game from Hodges it will be tied with Chouteau. Another game would then be necessary between Chouteau and Lincoln to determine the championship.

Great interest is being shown in the final games and it is likely they will be witnessed by big crowds Saturday. The losing teams will drop out and then there will be four teams to contest for the pennant.

For Mother's Sake. For the sake of the best girl on earth, whether or not you buy from us, wear a carnation on Mother's Day. Saturday at each. Grimm & Gorley.

CHICAGO PAPERS ARE SOLD WITHOUT GUARD

Delivery Spreads in Spite of the Strike of Pressmen and Stereotypers.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Newspapers were sold at a number of downtown corners today without guard, for the first time since the beginning of the newspaper strike.

The zone for the distribution of newspapers has been gradually widened in the last few days until at present it includes nearly every section of the city. Following the action of President James J. Freely of the International Union in revoking the charter of the Chicago Union for rebelling against the laws of the international organization, more striking stereotypers applied to the newspapers today for reinstatement. A few of the old men have been taken back, but it is reported that most of the papers have full crews of stereotypers.

BONCI SUES FOR $50,000

Pullman Was Chilly and He Caught Cold, He Says.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Alleging that the lack of heat in a Pullman car in which he traveled from this city to Toronto, on January 17 last, resulted in his catching such a cold that it prevented him from singing, Alessandro Bonci, tenor, has sued to recover $50,000 damages from the New York Central Railroad Co. and the Pullman Company. Bonci alleges his cold developed into laryngitis and that he was compelled to cancel all his engagements and was prevented from making new contracts for a considerable period.

Locomotives of Latest Type Installed

Several new Baldwin locomotives of the latest type have been put into service on passenger trains of the C. & E. I. Railroad, between St. Louis and Chicago. Each engine is 122 feet long, and weighs about 500,000 pounds. They are the most powerful locomotives in the passenger service. The company had great difficulty in providing "sleeping quarters" for the new giants, as most of its roundhouses were too small to accommodate them. The engines come within two or three inches of touching the roofs of the biggest locomotive sheds on the line.

Gottlieb Harman Kills Himself. Gottlieb Harman, 42 years old, drank carbolic acid Thursday night in the yard behind his home, 1307 South Sixth street, and died later at the city hospital. His widow, Mrs. Lena Harman, told the police he had been out of work for some time and was despondent.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

SUTTER DECISION MAY 17

Miss Davis' Suit Is Not Against Electrical Man.

Justice of the Peace Kleiber will hand down his decision May 17 in the suit of Miss Susan Lawrence Davis against Charles Sutter, president of the Sanitary Street Cleaning Co. Miss Davis sued Sutter for $100, alleging that was due her for a course in the water cure treatment given to him.

The suit of Miss Davis was not against Charles J. Sutter, an electrical contractor and engineer of 1230 Pine street. The similarity of names has caused Sutter, the electrical man, to have to make many explanations.

PULITZER SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM PLANS OUTLINED

Dr. Talcott Williams, Director of Institution, to Open at Columbia University in September, Speaks on Course of Training at City Club.

VIRTUES ACCURACY AND PUNCTUALITY

Joseph Pulitzer of the Post-Dispatch Presides at Luncheon, at Which the Course of Training for Journalists Is Explained.

Dr. Talcott Williams, director of the Pulitzer School of Journalism in Columbia University, New York, spoke at a City Club luncheon at 1:15, Friday afternoon, his subject being "Journalism and Its Training." A large crowd heard the address.

Joseph Pulitzer of the Post-Dispatch presided at the luncheon and introduced the speaker, who is one of the most distinguished representatives of the best type of American journalism. For 39 years Dr. Williams has been an active newspaper man. At the time of his appointment by Columbia University as director of the Pulitzer School of Journalism, founded by the late Joseph Pulitzer, he was associate editor of the Philadelphia Press.

During his newspaper career he has been reporter, Washington correspondent, dramatic editor, city editor, associate editor, and with experience in every feature of newspaper work except as war correspondent.

In his address to the City Club, Dr. Williams said, in part:

"The School of Journalism, founded by the late Joseph Pulitzer, is the first school of training with an adequate foundation in the latest college and university recognized as a profession requiring systematic preparation. Journalism is a calling rather than a profession, an art rather than a calling. It is one of the arts of expression which, thrown on the broad and multifarious canvas of the daily newspaper, that process and progress of the world for a day, which we call news, and that echo and expression of the better opinion of the day, which we call editorial capacity, in an art, no man can succeed unless he has for it a special aptitude; but having this aptitude he will be aided by all the knowledge and all the training he can acquire.

Broad horizon as Guide.

He has this, he will enter his calling with the broad horizon of the past to guide him in dealing with the present and touching all the problems and activities of men, he will be saved by his knowledge from error, now sometimes unavoidable.

"The School of Journalism has, therefore, the task of uniting the training in books which the journalist needs with the practice in the technique of his craft, which is necessary to his professional training. The young journalist must be given knowledge in abundant portion and it must be knowledge suited to his future work, but he must also be taught how to write lucidly and with force, how to gather news and how to write it after it is gathered, and above all things to be accurate.

"The real difficulty of a school of journalism is to combine this task of acquiring knowledge, which can best be done in a great university, and the other task of describing events in the light of knowledge, which can best be done in a great city. The School of Journalism in Columbia University is fortunate, therefore, in having behind it and around it the two conditions which have been lacking in previous attempts to give training in journalism, either from the standpoint of writing or the standpoint of practice.

Reporting and Editing.

"The curriculum for a school of journalism should present the courses useful to the journalist and add to this the work of technical reporting and editing in a great city. This task is new. It has never before been taken up from precisely this standpoint, or with adequate endowment.

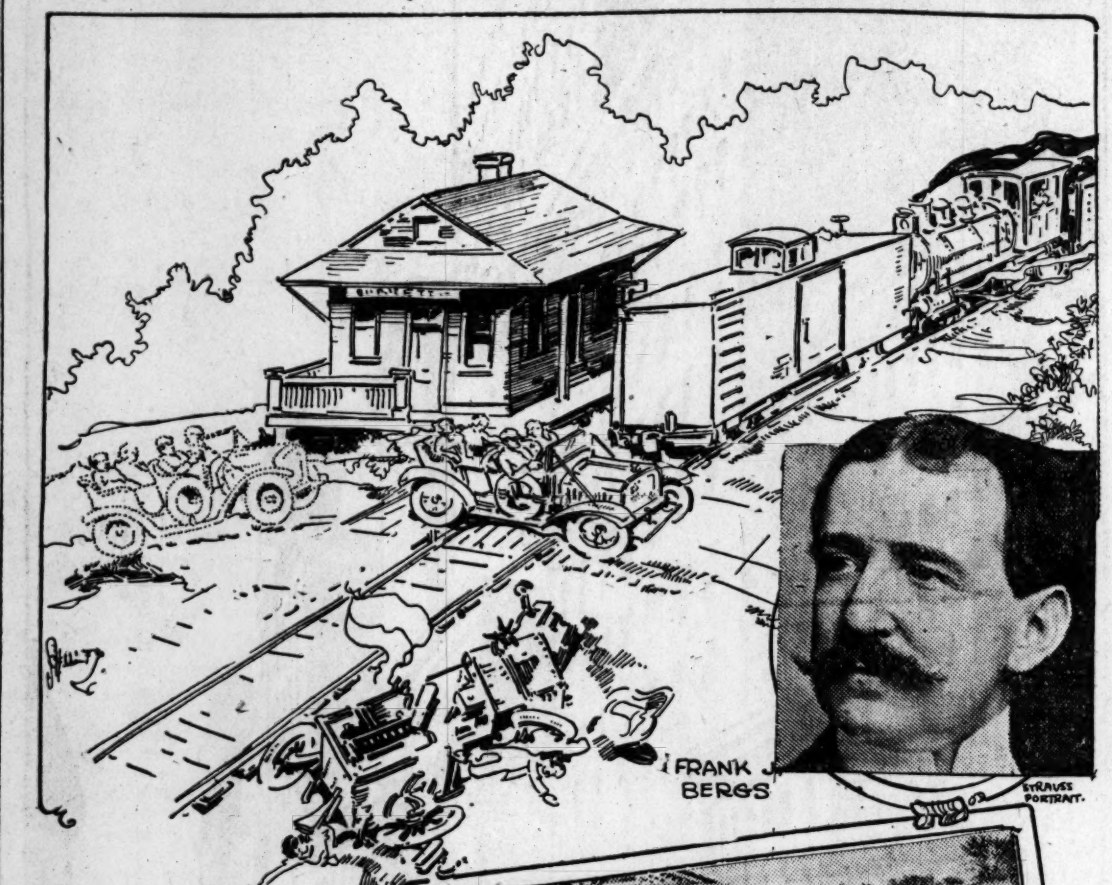

"Joseph Pulitzer wisely held that there should be no collegiate tests for admission to the School of Journalism. Every reporter, the School of Journalism, which separates him from 20 has made a little more difficult the task of acquiring that capacity for seeing facts coolly and feeling emotion hotly, which is the culmination of reporting.

"By the deed of gift, therefore, and by wise decision, the School of Journalism, for the present at least, must be an undergraduate department, taking its students from the high school. There are now some and their number will grow, who will finish a college course of four, or better still three, years, and then will take the last two technical years in a school of journalism, entering their active newspaper work five years from the high school.

German and French.

"There will be a four year course, opening next fall, with all the years deferred. In this time, the studies needed by the journalist will be given. He will read French and German in newspapers until he can use both freely. He will have a rapid survey of the sciences, so that he will know what can and cannot be done.

"He will take an abstract of philosophy and psychology. The history of the nineteenth century here and abroad he will read in the newspapers of its passing decades.

"He will learn party conflicts and party government from editorial and news. His political science, his study in civil administration, his economics, his knowledge of industrial development, the trust and the labor union will be of today. So with literature, both at home and abroad.

"Standards and information are the objects sought. The whole purpose is to secure contemporaneous knowledge. This carefully constructed course feel it is better than the usual college course for active work in society.

"To this will be added, under Journalism, the study of all tasks, his in copy-editing and news gathering in New York City. The student will learn lucid and accurate writing and, most of all, he will learn the life of a great city. Accuracy and punctuality will be the two fundamental virtues required. Such training will bring him to his work schooled, informed and equipped.

"He will have learned also from his historical study and a course in the history of journalism that all tasks, his is the most responsible. Through it self-government exists, and falls without it; its work has brought reform and saved revolution. It creates the common knowledge, consciousness and action of men, nations, and, in the end, of humanity itself."

Missouri Students and Editors Hear Talcott Williams.

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 10.—Talcott Williams, director of the Pulitzer School of Journalism of Columbia University, New York, addressed the students and visiting editors at the auditorium of the University of Missouri last night. His subject was, "The Profession of Journalism."

After the address the Kappa Tau Alpha, an honorary journalist fraternity, gave a banquet for the head of the New York school.

The afternoon was devoted to the Missouri Press Association. Fifty members were present. E. L. Purcell of the Fredericktown Democrat-News, president of the association, addressed the editors. Then followed a discussion of "Business Methods in the County Newspaper Office," by E. P. Caruthers of the Kennett Democrat; "The Equipment of the County Newspaper Office," by H. J. Blanton of the Paris Appeal and J. V. Bumbarger of the Memphis Democrat; "Plates and Patents," by E. C. Jette of Kansas City.

BLIND MAN TELLS HOW HE TRIED TO SAVE AUTO PARTY

Eugene C. Mahaney, a blind grocer of Barrett's station, 10 miles west of St. Louis, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday how he tried to prevent the fatal crash of the automobile of Frank J. Bergs, who was killed and three of his women relatives were seriously injured when a Missouri Pacific train struck Bergs' machine Thursday afternoon.

"I was sitting on the front porch of my store, 50 feet north of the crossing," said Mahaney. "I have been accustomed so long to using my ears to take the place of my eyes that my hearing is very acute. Most persons cannot hear a train when it is coming through the tunnel just west of the crossing. The noise is muffled. I can hear it very plainly—a sort of subdued rumble."

"I heard the train and could tell it was coming east through the tunnel. At the same time I heard an automobile go south past my porch. From the sound I could tell it was a touring car and I heard women's voices. It seemed to me the automobile was going at a fair rate, but not speeding. The train seemed to be laboring to get up the grade and not going very fast."

"I put my fingers between my teeth and gave a sharp, loud whistle to attract the automobilists. Then I hollered 'Look out for the train; look out for the train.'"

"As I couldn't see whether the automobilists had paid attention to my warnings I called my 15-year-old sister Julia. She ran down the road and called back to me that the train had struck the automobile."

"Those dreadful odors!"

"Sinks, drains, garbage cans and toilet basins all throw odors into the house, unless they are kept clean with an active germ destroying agent."

"That is what CN is. It makes everything so clean that odors cannot exist where it is used."

"Scrub, scour and rinse all day long with soap and water and the difficulty will still remain."

"Put a little CN in a pail of water and use the solution wherever the odors are. Then you will have a fresh, healthful, invigorating atmosphere—and you will be rid of germs, for CN is a great disinfectant, strong but non-poisonous."

TOLEDO, O., May 10.—For a boy to be born with the makings of silver teeth in his system was never heard of until Dr. Zarbaugh introduced little Johnny Schmittner, age six, to the dentists of three states, in convention here.

One day Mrs. A. F. Schmittner, John's mother, thought she saw a pin in her baby's mouth. She pried open the baby's mouth with her finger and scratched what appeared to be a patch of metal on the baby's new molar the baby out.

The patch did not come off. Marvelling, the mother then took the baby to Dr. Zarbaugh who had filed with silver, a molar in the mother's mouth eight months before the baby was born.

The dentist scratched the metal patch on the baby's tooth with sharp instruments. It grew brighter like a piece of silver that is scratched. He has watched the tooth ever since. The tooth and the metal patch have grown correspondingly. It presents exactly the same appearance as does the mother's tooth, when it was filed with silver.

RAIL PRICE FIXED AFTER TRUST FORMED

Wire-Pool Inquiry Testimony Shows Steady Quotations Have Ruled Since 1901.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Testimony given today at the wire-pool inquiry to show the course of the prices of wire products, steel rails, steel beams and tin plate, before and after the formation of the United States Steel Corporation in April, 1901.

A. I. Findlay, editor of an iron and steel trade paper, testified that in November, 1898, rails were $16.50 a ton; in November, 1899, $35; in September, 1900, $36; in December, 1901, $38; since which date they have not varied. The price of steel rails, the Government contends, was permanently fixed at $38 by agreement among manufacturers at the time the Steel Corporation was formed.

The witness testified that the Carnegie Steel Co., the National Steel Co., the American Steel and Wire Co., the American Tin Plate Co. and other subsidiaries were formed about 1888. Frank J. Newbury of John A. Robins Sons Co., who represented his company in the rubber-covered wire, the lead-encased rubber cable and weather-proof and magnet wire associations, testified price fixing among the members, guarantee funds and penalties for violation of rules, were all features of the operation of these pools.

After Newbury was excused the hearing was adjourned until Monday.

6 IN '$60-A-MINUTE' CONCERN INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

Potomac Refining Company at Baltimore Said to Have Operated All Over Country.

BOOKS TELL OF WEALTH FOUND INVESTIGATION ON

Deposits of Manganese, Limestone and Marble Described as Near Harper's Ferry.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, May 10.—After the investigation of alleged fraudulent use of the mails conducted by Government officials, came the indictment today of six men connected with the Potomac Refining Co., a corporation capitalized at $1,500,000, and whose operations are said to have extended all over the country.

One indictment, 51 pages long, was returned by the Federal grand jury against Michael P. Kehoe, president of the company, a member of the Baltimore bar and a justice of the peace; Louis F. Plack, vice-president; Charles B. Sanger, secretary; Edward R. Cooper, manager; Robert W. Mowbray, general counsel, a member of the Baltimore bar and a justice of the peace; A. B. Young, a stock salesman, said to be a broker in New York.

Young is said to be in Europe, but United States District Attorney Hill wired to New York a request that he be placed under arrest if found there.

Land Near Harper's Ferry.

Portified with indentments from Gov. Glasscock of West Virginia, former Mayor Mahool of Baltimore, two Baltimore county judges, bankers, business men, clergymen and many other persons of station, the officials of the company, it is charged, were able to worm their way into the confidence of prospective purchasers of the company's stock.

This stock, of which it is said more than $100,000 has been sold, is declared to be almost worthless, and it is charged the $1,500,000 company has never had anything like the assets it has claimed in its literature.

Representing that the company was the owner of valuable lands in Washington County, Md., near Harper's Ferry, and that the lands contained deposits of minerals of great wealth, literature "The Potomac Refining Co." was circulated in different parts of the country.

The Government officials say that when first representations were made the company had merely entered into an agreement to buy some property near Harper's Ferry. Since that time it is said to have acquired an old-time plant worth about $40,000.

Wealth Is Described.

Three handsome books, eloquently describing the wealth that was to be had almost for the asking in Washington County, Md., it is alleged, were distributed by the company. Another explains how to do business in millions, and each of the books is said to contain pictures of the "mines" of manganese, of limestone and of marble.

"Sixty Dollars a Minute" is the title of one of the books said to have been issued by the company. Another explains how to do business in millions, and each of the books is said to contain pictures of the "mines" of manganese, of limestone and of marble.

ARCHBOLD RILED WHEN CULM BANK PURCHASE FAILED

E. J. Williams Testifies Judge Threatened Business Injury to Erie Official.

FOUND INVESTIGATION ON Sale Refused When It Was Discovered Department of Justice Was Sifting Facts.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—William P. C. Boland and C. G. Boland of the Marston Coal Co., Scranton, Pa., were summoned today by the House Judiciary Committee to appear as witnesses in the hearing of charges against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the Commerce Court.

William Boland is one of the accusers of the jurist and furnished the Department of Justice with information relative to options from the Erie Railroad procured by Judge Archbald and Edward J. Williams on culm bank property.

The Bolands will appear when the committee has concluded its examination of Williams, who was recalled to the stand today.

Williams was asked by Chairman Clayton if, on Wednesday, he had said that Judge Archbald had offered to give bond to Vice-President Cohn of the Laurel Line to protect him against damages that might be sought from the Eberhart estate on a claim against the Katydidd culm bank.

Says Bond Was Offered.

"I didn't testify that here," said Williams, "but I offered to give bond to protect the culm bank property against any claims."

"Did Judge Archbald know about it?"

"Yes, I talked to him about it. We wanted to clear up the title."

"Who drew the contract for sale of the Culm property to the Laurel Line?"

"Judge Archbald drew it."

"Who has that contract now?"

"I suppose Mr. Conn's attorney has it."

The chairman asked Williams why Capt. May of the Erie had refused to give an option to him when he first approached him, if the culm was on the market. Williams said he had no idea.

"Why," said the chairman, "was it necessary for you to get a letter from Judge Archbald before Capt. May would give you the option?"

"Well, I thought it wouldn't hurt me to have a letter from the Judge. Judge Archbald, and Capt. May were well acquainted."

"You knew Judge Archbald was a Federal Judge at the time and handled railroad litigation in his court, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"And you knew Mr. May was a railroad man and a corporation man?"

"Yes, sir."

Wanted Judge's Influence.

"Then you thought these circumstances would have an influence in getting the option of the culm property from the Erie?"

"Yes, I thought so."

"Isn't it a fact that May declined to consummate this deal and declined to consummate this deal after he was investigating the transaction?"

"I don't know."

"When did you first learn of the investigation?"

"When I was called to Washington last February."

"Did you tell Judge Archbald that you had been called to Washington by the Attorney-General in this matter?"

"Yes."

"Did you and Judge Archbald discuss why the deal had not been consummated?"

"Yes, we talked about it."

"Wasn't the deal halted on account of the investigation and did not you and the Judge talk about that?"

"I don't remember what all was said, but I remember that the judge said it would be better not to try to sell the culm. He thought it would be well to let the culm stand and it would be worth more some other time."

"The decision not to sell it then was after you learned that the Department of Justice was investigating the transaction?"

"Yes, we decided that about three weeks ago."

Agreement Off After Inquiry.

After Capt. May had refused to consummate the transaction Williams said he told Judge Archbald about it. May previously had agreed to make out a deed to the property and had declined to carry out the agreement after the Government began inquiry into the case.

The chairman referred to previous testimony relating to Judge Archbald's visit to General Counsel and Vice-President Brownell of the Erie railroad after Capt. May's first refusal to give an option to the culm property.

Here the chairman read from the papers in the case quoting from a statement given by Williams to Assistant Attorney General Brown before a notary several weeks ago. There Williams is quoted as saying:

"When I went to Judge Archbald and told him May had refused to give the option Judge Archbald got very riled and said, 'I'll go and see Brownell. I'm well acquainted with him and I might hurt May for giving in for such a small thing.'"

Asked if he made that statement, Williams said he had.

"Did Judge Archbald say anything

Arcadian, With Americans on Board, Aground Near Cartagena, but in No Danger.

LONDON, May 10.—The Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. has received a cablegram from Colon saying their steamer Arcadian was aground on Salmadina bank, near Cartagena. The cablegram said the vessel was in no danger. The Arcadian left New York April 27, bound for Colon, etc., and Southampton.

Two Steamers Go to Give Aid and Both Are Aground.

COLON, May 10.—Two steamers have gone aground in trying to assist the Arcadian, aground on Salmadina bank. The United Fruit Co.'s steamer Metapan, which left New York April 24, and the Harrison liner Workman, which came to the Arcadian's aid, are now aground on the same bank. The canal tugboat Empire and the United Fruit Co.'s steamer Zapacapa, which left New York May 1, for Kingston, Jamaica, are now going to give assistance. Everybody on board is reported to be safe.

The Arcadian carries a large party of American tourists on a cruise of West Indian and Central American ports, including a stay at the Panama Canal.

"Well, he talked about the lighterage case that was before the court."

"Lighterage Brief Before Judge."

"Did the Judge tell you about more than one case?"

"He talked about cases that were before him. He had two briefs on his desk. I picked up the briefs myself while we were talking and he told me one of them was the lighterage case."

Why Waste Time With Impossible Methods?—Breathe Hyomei and Catarrh and All Its Disgusting Symptoms Will Vanish

There is only one way to cure catarrh. Reach the raw, tender, inflamed membrane that is infested with catarrh germs, and destroy the germs. You can't reach the nooks and crevices with liquid preparations and water won't go down the wind pipe—you know that. There is only one way—breathe the antiseptic germ killing air of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-me) directly over the infested parts.

HYOMEI contains no opium, cocaine or other harmful drugs; it is made of Australian eucalyptus, thymol and other Listerian antiseptics. It will end the misery of catarrh, croup, coughs, colds and catarrhal deafness, if used as directed.

A complete HYOMEI outfit, which includes hard rubber pocket inhaler, a bottle of HYOMEI and simple instructions for use, costs $1.00. Extra bottles if afterwards required, 50 cents, at druggists everywhere—ADV.

THE ARCHBOLD CASE.

Judge Robert W. Archbold of the Court of Commerce, who is now under investigation for mixing personal business with judicial proceedings, is the Judge who exercised astonishing leniency in the cases of the wire-pool offenders, who practically confessed guilt by their plea of not-guilty. Concerning his imposition of play-money fines on wealthy malefactors, Attorney-General Wickersham said:

I know that many of them (the wire-pool men) were entirely innocent of any criminal intent, but I can't understand Judge Archbold's not sending Jackson—the quack doctor of the law—to jail. He fined him less than one-third of the year's profits from his dishonest and criminal practice. It was absurd. If ever there was a case in which impeachment proceedings were called for, this is one. If the constitutional method of removing Judges for incompetence, bias, abuse of power, neglect or corruption is not used, how is it possible to check the demand for revolutionary methods? The only way to avoid popular distrust and denunciation of the judiciary, and unconstitutional remedies for judicial abuses, is to apply the constitutional recall.

For a man as voluble as he is on his former use of patronage, Mr. Roosevelt is strangely taciturn about his former campaign funds.

CHILD WELFARE SHOW.

The last opportunity to attend the Child Welfare Show, at the Coliseum, is given this afternoon and evening.

This is a poster exhibit to which musical and calisthenic features by young people add attractiveness. Facts and conclusions promulgated by the welfare are three-sheeted from rows of billboards in a manner that leaves an impression on the visitor. Useful and often startling scientific truth has graphic illustration. Sympathy for the crippled and blind children is broadened by exhibits of their work laboriously executed under the handicap of misfortune.

The claims of coming generations on the present generation have never before had so powerful a presentation in St. Louis. Interest in all branches of welfare work and in many urgent political reforms is deepened by attendance on this unique and appealing show.

Wyoming has gone for Taft, notwithstanding the partiality of another man for the book that made Wyoming famous.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW.

In his talks to St. Louisans Judge W. A. Day, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, suggested the splendid manufacturing and commercial opportunities of St. Louis. He called attention to the productive richness of the surrounding territory, the great waterways and railroads linking the city with world routes of traffic, including the Panama Canal. As the custodian of $500,000,000 of surplus to be invested in all parts of the country Judge Day is competent to speak on business possibilities.

If outsiders can see the advantages of St. Louis, St. Louisans should not be blind to them. Not only should the city and State be opened to investors and producers, but our minds should be opened to the vision of opportunity. With the resources at hand, only energy and judgment are needed to utilize them. The field of trade is unlimited.

MATERNITY HOSPITAL FUND.

Adolphus Busch's gift of $5000 should give a decided impetus to the Maternity Hospital movement. Only a limited acquaintance with the population conditions in the cosmopolitan St. Louis of more than 800,000 population is required to appreciate that a well-appointed institution of this character is one of the city's most urgent needs.

All of those in sympathy with the efforts of the Board of Directors to provide the new building cannot make their interest manifest by gifts of $5000. But there are few who cannot afford to make a contribution by purchase of a seat at the concert to be given at the Coliseum Monday for the benefit of the hospital project.

Opportunity to aid a most worthy project and bear an admirable musical program is presented by the concert ranging from 50 cents to $5.00.

THE BRIDGE BOND ELECTION.

We sympathize heartily with Mayor Kreismann's desire to push legislation on the Municipal bridge. The structure as it stands without approaches would be a melancholy memorial to the failure of the administration to carry out the principal pledge upon which it was elected.

The Mayor's urgent counsel that the east approach be located and all legislation relating thereto completed by June 20 is to the point. After months of wrangling and delay, that would be a delightful and surprising consummation of the public's fainting hope.

But we are not convinced of the wisdom of the Mayor's plan to have a special bond election called for Aug. 5. The special bond election is a costly and uncertain venture. Unless the party organizations are put to work the vote is likely to be small. Only those who vote who feel a special, strong interest in the result of the election. Money is lacking for a campaign or for organization work to bring out a vote. An element of taxpayers and agitators, under the circumstances, might control the election.

Probably the wisest plan would be to call the bond election on the day of the general election. This year the people will be deeply interested in the presidential contest and in several propositions on the ballot. The best hope for the success of the bonds is a general intelligent vote. The only chance for this is at the general election. Postponing the vote until November would give time to clean up all the bridge complications. It would offer opportunity for a campaign of education and for an appeal to the pride and patriotism of citizens. All objections to the proposal could be met.

Another failure to have the bonds authorized would be calamitous. The election should be held under the best possible conditions. The Mayor and Municipal Assembly should take counsel on the subject.

While the owners of Missouri railroads are setting aside millions for improvements, it should not be St. Louis' fault if a few millions are not devoted to grade separation.

PUBLICITY'S GOOD WORK.

The inclusion in Comptroller Tausig's budget of an appropriation of $125,000 for the removal of ashes by the city is another demonstration of the beneficial force of well-directed publicity. For two years the ordinance providing for municipal ash hauling was inoperative on account of the lack of an appropriation for the purpose.

The Post-Dispatch called attention to the failure of the ordinance and demanded that it be put into effect. The wisdom of municipal hauling of ashes, the advantage of public over private collection and the benefits to the people in economy and cleanliness were fully set forth. Public opinion was aroused and officials were stirred to action. The budget's provision is the result. Unquestionably the Municipal Assembly will approve the appropriation.

Municipal ash hauling seems a small matter, but it is important to the people. It assures systematic, periodic and thorough removal of ashes. It means increased health and comfort for the people and a considerable saving in cost. It is in harmony with municipal street sprinkling and garbage removal, both of which were accomplished through vigorous campaigns by the Post-Dispatch. They mark progress in municipal conditions.

Did it ever occur to our conservationists that in point of food products an acre of water may very easily be rendered more valuable than two or three acres of ground?

LAW AS A MATTER OF FORM.

No ordinance of the city, no law of the State, is enforceable in St. Louis courts in any criminal case when prosecution is perfunctory and a matter of form. The Judge on the bench, who may occasionally defeat the law, cannot enforce it. It is his duty to protect defendants when prosecution is too zealous, as it is to protect the community against all the law forbids the defense. When the failure of enforcement for law becomes notorious and "the courts" are blamed, it is nine times in ten a result of merely perfunctory action by prosecutors, put in office and controlled on the understanding that privileged law-breaking is to be subjected to nothing more than formal prosecution.

This is to be considered when, as a response to the criticism of the grand jury, Prosecuting Attorney Siders says: "I have maintained and I still maintain that the Circuit Attorney is the proper officer to investigate and prosecute lid clubs through the agency of the grand jury." This is merely the question of function. It concerns formal action on the part of two prosecutors between whom results have been reduced to the matter of form. The question presented by the grand jury's investigation of cases of this class goes far beyond it. Immunity from the penalties of the law will continue for all influential law-breakers, so long as they can secure the assurance of protection through the merely formal and perfunctory action of men they themselves select and put in office, as public prosecutors.

SPAGHETTI MOTHER USED TO MAKE.

The conditions under which the macaroni issue arose in Chicago's Court of Domestic Relations are unimportant. Neither does it matter that the complainant was Mrs. Theresa Infraio, whose husband would not be known as a good provider in the strict New England sense. The consequential thing is that food products of the macaroni class have been judicially ordained and established as indispensable to the American home.

It is another of the things showing the complexity of home-building in this country. Government by injunction is going some when it steps in to guarantee to every family its right to spaghetti; but, then, the American menu has become a fearful and wonderful thing since the days when corn pone and bacon were the staples of the plain people. America may be a melting pot for the nations, but it is also a toaster, a bake tin, a gridiron, a double boiler and other utensils for the customary preparation of the nations' good things to eat.

From the oatmeal of the morning to the kartofoel and "winkles" of the midnight Dutch lunch the national bill of fare has been benevolently assimilated from the larders of all peoples. But if we have borrowed, we have also improved. Our breakfast porridge is stirred from cereals so different from the Scot's that patients are granted on them. Our formulae for sausages give pensive Vienna and Frankfurt something to think about. The sanitariously prepared macaroni products of St. Louis and other cities are superior to anything the ultimate spaghetti consumer of Italy ever knew. We are even raising a superior macaroni wheat.

Why wonder if America clamorously demands spaghetti like mother used to make? It is already demanding chop suey like mother used to make.

The public's only interest in the United Railways' affairs is to be carried from one point in St. Louis to another for 5 cents, so the United Railways Co. insists. But supposing, through the refusal of the company to give the transfers the law contemplates it shall give, the public has to pay 10 cents?

The Montgomery City girl who asked $4000 damages for being kissed lost her suit. The jury probably objected to indorsing such an increase in prices in this era of high cost of living.

Now, when he has so many incentives for talking, has anything happened to Chancellor Day affecting the use of his vocal organs?

Keeping Chickens in City Yards.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In answer to "Physical Culture" about "Back-Yard Eggs" would like to ask P. C. if he ever raised chickens or if he knows a fresh egg when he sees one? Now, I have raised chickens in a back yard for the last 12 years and would like to tell him that if they are not well taken care of and everything kept clean he will not see many eggs, and if he goes to some of the farmers, almost all of them, and enters a chicken house, he will be covered with mites and chicken lice when he leaves it, something he will find in a very few back-yard chicken houses, as parties keeping chickens in the city keep them for the love of the thing and fresh eggs, so rarely to be had otherwise. I spent one summer in the country among farmers that kept from 200 to 500 chickens. The children gather the eggs without regard if broody hens have been sitting on the nests for hours or a couple of days—all get packed and sent to the city for "fresh eggs." I have raised as high as 100 chickens in a back yard 25 by 30, supplied the table with spring chickens and fresh eggs and sold enough to pay for the feed; had chickens lay in June that were hatched in February and weighing 2½ pounds when 10 weeks old; sold some at 50 cents a pound—and I think any woman can do the same with a little labor. A dozen hens can almost be kept from table leftovers and, at the most, 50 cents worth of feed. I would advise any woman to try her hand at it and see how much she can reduce her butcher and grocery bills.

AN OLD BACK-YARD CHICKEN RAISER.

Whistle Disturbs the Sick.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
There are quite a number of people who agree with "Sidney St." that the dreadful whistle at Sidney and Ohio is a terrible nuisance in this district, including the operator who blows it twelve long times a day, instead of the proper four times. I know of an invalid, trying to regain strength after a serious illness, who often gets to sleep first at 4 a. m., and has at other times slept till 9 or 10 a. m., but since this whistle has been installed, awakens every morning, considerably earlier.

City Should Remove the Ashes.

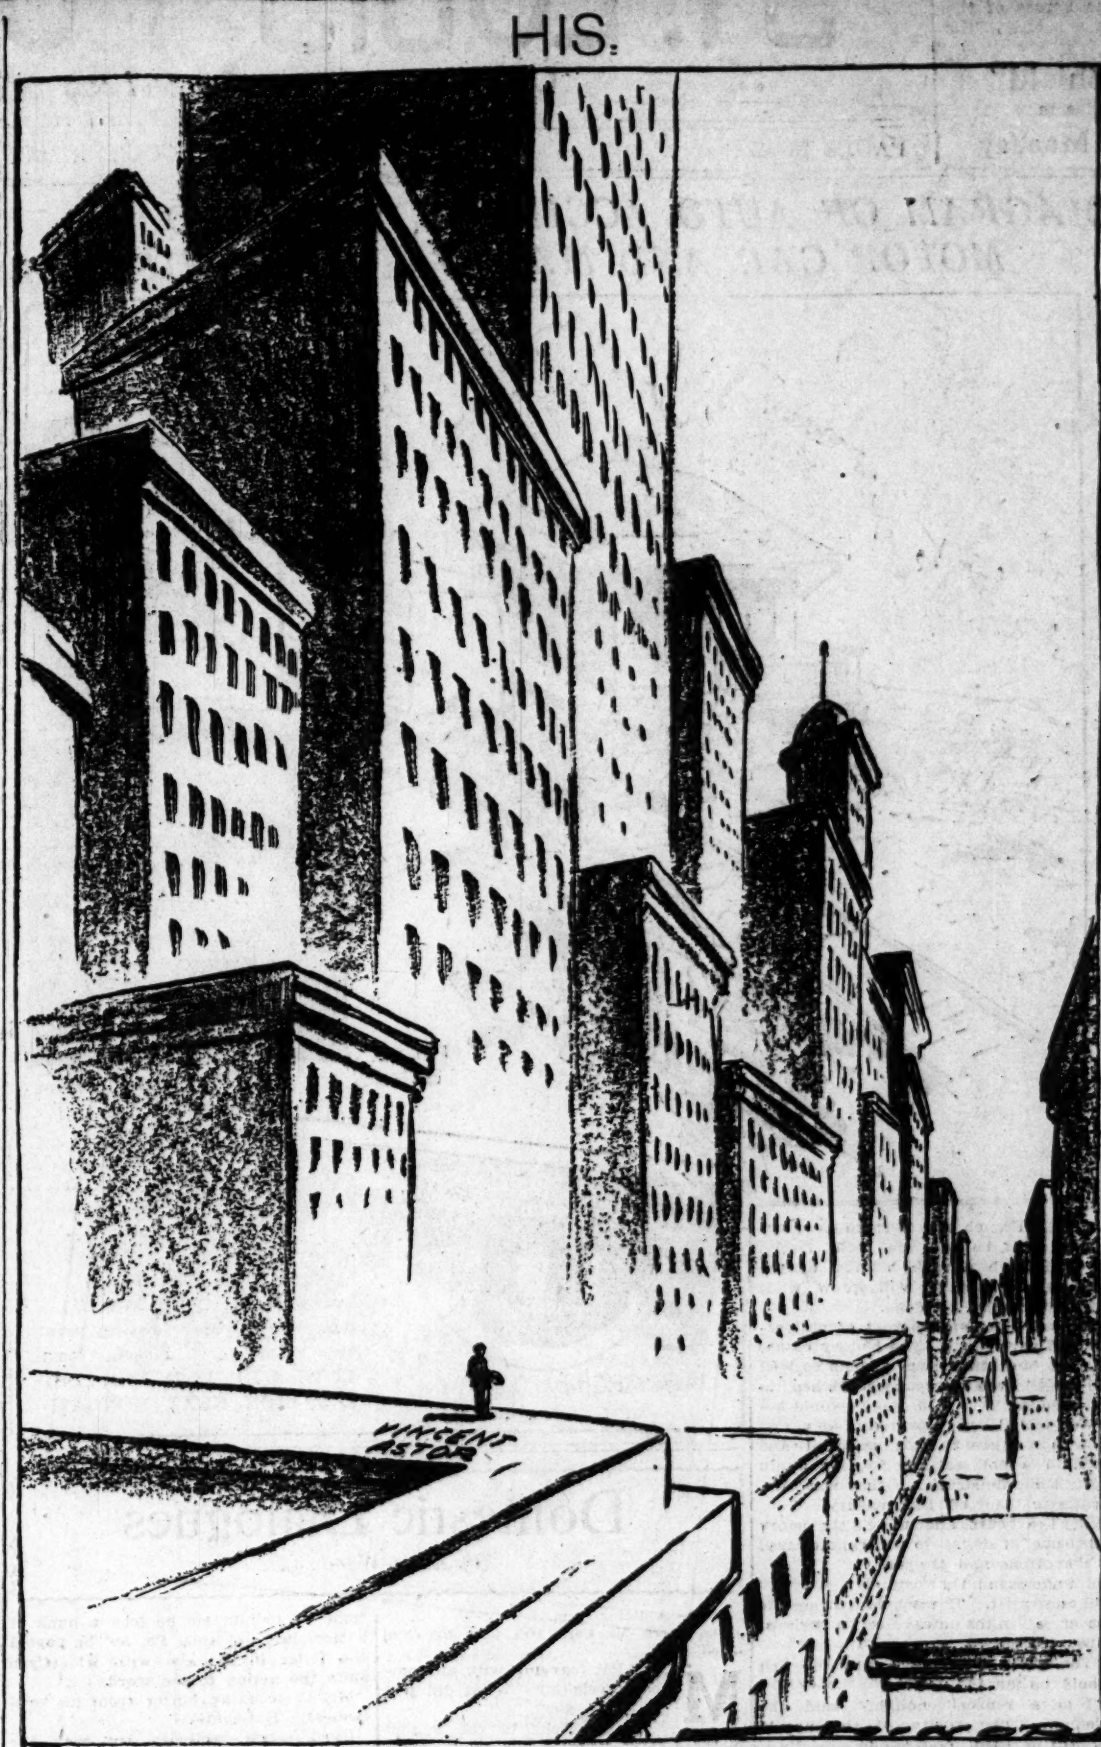

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In one of your daily issues I noted an editorial urging the city to haul ashes and refuse, for which an ordinance, I understand, has been made. This public convenience should be carried out at the earliest possible time, as the conditions existing on account of the long hauls and the lack of dumps are terrible. This spring the city has abolished the dumps at the foot of Chouteau avenue and the hauling, has to be done under the greatest difficulties, the trips back and forth consuming so much time that men are loath to take the jobs. Since the Chouteau avenue dump has been closed it is almost impossible to get a man to haul of this kind in certain districts owing to these long hauls. The stock of wagons of these ash haulers are of such poor quality that one can hardly blame them for making this distinction.

The condition is growing more acute monthly, the price of ash hauling is increasing and is already on a par with moving van charges. I have been trying for two weeks to have my ashes hauled and I understand there are hundreds if not thousands of property owners in the same boat. The use of preaching sanitary conditions and threatening citizens with a fine for a situation the city alone is to blame for?

Exposing Spiritualism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In big black headlines Mrs. Sawyer is published as a Spiritualist. The fact is that she is not a member of any Spiritualist organization whatever. Suppose the charges against her are all true; they have nothing to do with Spiritualism. As a Mr. Bodie of the Gospel Mr. Richardson obtained money under false pretenses and is now awaiting execution for murder, but is any one foolish enough to hold the Gospel responsible for Richardson? Spiritualist organizations have repeatedly tried to expose fakers. Some years ago some Spiritualists exposed a faker, but the Court dismissed the offender on the ground that the Spiritualists, believing the "medium" to be a faker, could not have been deceived. How would such law work with detectives, who are not "deceived"?

DEFECTIVE BOX CARS.

From the Railway Age Gazette.
Between 11 and 12 per cent of the money paid out for freight claims on box cars for the year ending June 30, 1911, was for damage which was directly traceable to defective equipment. If it were possible to add to that part of the damage caused by rough handling, robbery and wrecks, which was primarily due to defective equipment, the percentage would probably be increased two or three times. The railways at large paid out about $30,000,000 in freight claims last year, and at least $4,000,000, and probably as much as $10,000,000 of it, was caused by defective equipment.

It may be argued that it will cost more to make the cars water, burglar and grain leakage proof than to pay the claims caused by defective equipment. Even if this were so, and it is extremely doubtful if it is, it is the duty of the railways to make this expenditure, because when they sign a bill of lading for freight it is their duty to transport it to its destination and deliver it in its original condition. Even though it might be convenient and less expensive for them to continue maintaining the equipment as they have in the past, and pay the claims, they are arraigned in continuing this policy and forcing loss and inconvenience on the shippers, who are only partially compensated by the payment of claims for the actual loss sustained.

A SHAMEFUL SITUATION.

From the Houston Chronicle.
In substance, an ex-President calls a President a cheat and a falsifier. There is no precedent for such a situation or for such language, and heaven grant there may be no subsequent. It is pitiable, distressing, humiliating and untold to him to strike back, President Taft is now met with the language of a reckless political buccaner, consumed with egotism, mad with desire for power and drunk with selfish ambition.

It would be to forget all those things which transcend in importance the success of any party or the ambition of any individual to feel a joy in such a situation. William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt, the individuals, are no more than are millions of other Americans; but, bearing the relation they do to the past and the present of this great republic, the controversy in which they are engaged and the distressing personal and political drama in which they are the chief and only actors is brings the blush of shame to the cheek of every citizen.

True Love.

From the Washington Herald.
"Do you love me, Charles?" inquired the beautiful girl.
"Of course I do."
"Do you think only of me, by day and night?"
"Well, I'll be frank with you. Now and then I think of baseball."
No Commentaries.
From the Baltimore American.
Patron: Can you give me the usual commentaries with my oysters?
Waiter: We're out of 'em just now, sir, but we kin give you pickle, crackers and ketchup.

HIS.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

IN FOREST PARK.

As I walked home through Forest Park the music of a meadowlark
Was borne upon the passing breeze
From somewhere out among the trees.
A little child beside the way
Laughed in the ecstasy of play.
And all the bluesiness of the skies
Looked down and lingered in his eyes.
The road I followed ran between
Two meadows wonderfully green,
And flowers lifted up their heads
From many ornamental beds.
Boys there were with sailing boats,
And birds with sweet and ringing notes.
The sunlight slanted through the trees,
And the clover drenched with honey bees.
Said I with Omar as I passed,
"The long, long time the world shall last!"
How many meadowlarks shall sing,
How many men come marveling.
"How many children's limpid eyes
Shall catch the bluesiness of the skies.
How many meadows richly green
The bending rods shall run between."
"How many flowers lift their heads
From lovely ornamental beds.
How many birds intone their notes,
How many boys shall sail their boats."

As I walked home through Forest Park
The shady vale grew softly dark
And shadows from the singing birds
Were swiftly stealing up the hills.
A Memphis reformer has been shot for correcting a man who ate with his knife. He at least saw to it that if the man is to continue eating with his knife, he probably will not be able to do it in public.

The confusion of tongues.
Judging by the press reports of the dinner which Vice-President Sherman tendered the White Sox, the conversation was something like this:
Mr. Sherman: What do you think of the political situation?
Mr. Callahan: I think the race is between us and the Athletics. What do you think of the pennant race?
Mr. Sherman: I think Mr. Taft will be nominated.
Mr. Walsh: Did you notice what we did at home?
Mr. Sherman: No, I have not been watching the primaries very close.
Mr. Sullivan: What do you think of our new men?
Mr. Sherman: I think Mr. La Follette has a great many good qualities.
Mr. Cummins, too, is a very good man.
Mr. Bodie: Do you think we will win?
Mr. Sherman: I have no doubt of it.
Mr. Lord: How do you think the first four will finish?
Mr. Sherman: I think the Republicans will win, with the Democrats second, the Socialists third, and the Prohibitionists last.
Mr. Callahan: What did you think of...

us beating Walter Johnson?
Mr. Sherman: Did we beat him? Well now, that's good! I don't seem to recall him. There are so many of those Roosevelt bosses. I suppose you have noticed how New York is going?
Mr. Callahan: I should say. They'll never head them. McGraw is a bear.
Mr. Sherman: Have you seen the President?
Mr. Callahan: Sure. He was out at the game.
Mr. Sherman: Was he, indeed?
Mr. Callahan: Yes. And Mrs. Johnson, as well.
Mr. Sherman: Ah! Eh? Yes, of course. Mr. Sullivan, won't you have some more of the rhubarb?

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HEALTH CULTURE.

VIOLA.—If the operator is skilled, superfluous hair treated by electrolysis does not return. (Answers to queries are given in this column.)
F. R.—Rubbing crude petroleum into the scalp is a good way to keep hair from falling out. See that your scalp has enough fresh air and sunlight, and that you get general health is good.
DANES.

MRS. H. R. P. May 9, Saturday. (Questions should be addressed "Answers.")
FANNIE.—Snowfall of January, 1904, was 14.3; April, 1.3. Old records are that the fall of April 20, was 4.4—snow and sleet.

MRS. R. G.—Santa Anna with 1500 to 2000 men, besieged 140 Texans two weeks at the Alamo. March 6, 1836, the fort was taken by assault, only six defenders remaining alive. The six were butchered by Santa Anna. The Alamo was blown up Feb. 15, 1938.

HEALTH HINTS.

J. W. N.—This advice was given a nervous person: Discontinue the use of tea and coffee; begin taking from four to eight fresh eggs daily, lightly beaten into a quart of milk (make it up in the morning and the rest at night, or better still, divide into three doses and take shortly after each meal, preparing each dose fresh when it is to be taken. (Forget that you are nervous.)

HAZEL.—Swollen, blistered, sore and chafed feet may be avoided by the use of a powder given to all foot soldiers in the German Army, which is put in the shoes and stockings like salt out of a shaker. The preparation is as follows: Three parts anhydrous acid, two parts starch, 17 parts pulverized soapstone. To harden the feet, bathe them frequently at night before retiring in very hot water, say for 10 to 15 minutes at a time, and mix with the water a lump of alum, the size of a hen's egg, and add a few drops of salt. Sometimes swelling is caused by disease; in such cases, a physician should be consulted. Swelling is common in summer.

ANKIOUS.—Children with whooping cough should be kept away from all coughing children; babies should be kept away from all coughing children. The isolation (quarantine) of cases of whooping cough should begin as soon as the cough starts (10 days before the whooping begins) and be kept up for two weeks and, sometimes, three. It is doubtful if it is necessary to continue the quarantine until the whooping stops—at least the latest literature is to the effect that by the time the whooping is terminated before the whooping stops, in measles there are cases that never break out and in whooping cough there are cases that never whoop. However, these cases are just as "catching" as any. Out of 100 children who whoop, it is just a detail. It kills no child. Medicines to stop it do not succeed, and would do no good if they did. Attention should be concentrated on saving the child from secondary pneumonia or other secondary effects.

LAW POINTS.

MRS. W. R. E.—Time in which to settle estate, 1 year to 18 months.

PAPER ROUTE.—Inquire at Circulation Department for the man who has the privilege. He alone can answer.

W. W. C.—Where the Olympic games are to be held is determined every four years by the International Committee.

E. M.—Unless alimony was allowed wife by the court, divorced husband is not required to support his wife and children.

R. V. M.—Under church rules if first marriage was valid, divorce cannot marry a Catholic by being converted to Catholic faith.

O. S.—Dog mangle: Bathes affected parts daily ten days with pure cider vinegar and then with kerosene oil. Food for same time, only every other day.

WORRIED.—None of the candidates for President is a Catholic, and there is no reason to suppose that Chief Justice White, a Catholic, is to be a "dark horse."

P. D.—Objectionable habits must be overcome by the will, which may be made strong by the Koenig attention fixed on anything else than the thought that causes the habit.

ANKIOUS.—After graduating from grammar school, you might become county school teacher. Write County Superintendent of Schools for an examination. City school might be shortened by attending State Normal. High school seniors teach in the city schools for pupils who is to be a teacher.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARIE BLAKEMAN.—We do not name "bests."

A. R. E.—Any cartoon sent to this office will receive consideration.

READER.—See manager department store about detective work for store.

PAUL.—Humphreys, Terrebonne County, La. is in the flood line of an under city school might be shortened by attending State Normal. High school seniors teach in the city schools for pupils who is to be a teacher.

MRS. C. W.—To keep rosin from sticking to tools, you might try vaseline.

S.—For King's Daughters, phone or see President Association, 2221 Locust.

ARLINGTON.—See Answers April 12 at this office. Readers are disgusted by frequent repetitions.

WORKING GIRL.—J. C. writes that the Knights of Pythias add Kellows, and others, allow $5 a week of more in event of sickness.

R. T. C.—The grapefruit called the shaddock, after Capt. Shaddock, who first brought it to America, does not grow on a vine. It is the fruit of a tropical tree.

ITALIAN READER.—For scenarios the film companies pay anywhere from $10 to $100. New York correspondents are the Biograph and Independent M. P. Co.

I. R. E.—Chewing gum: Prepared balsam of tolu 2 ounces, white sugar 1 ounce, oatmeal 1 ounce. Soften gum in water, mix with the balsam, dentists; then roll in finely powdered sugar or flour to form sticks to suit.

E. S.—Pearl: She is not old, she is not young. The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue. GOOD STORIES TOLD BY LAWYERS

Collected by The Green Bag.

A HINT FROM THE BENCH.
NEW YORK lawyer not long ago encountered a Tartar in the shape of an irascible witness who resented in no uncertain way the manner in which he was being cross-examined by the lawyer.
Finally, when counsel put to the witness certain questions that seemed to the latter to reflect upon his personal character, the irritated man on the stand burst forth with:
"If you ask me that again, I'll give you a thump on the nose."
Immediately counsel appealed to the Court, pointing out that an answer was necessary to the proper conduct of the cross-examination, and concluding with the inquiry:
"What would Your Honor advise me to do?"
"If you are determined to put that question," said the Judge, "I should advise you to move a little from the witness."

GETTING OFF EASY.
SOUTHERN representative in Congress, formerly a lawyer in Georgia, tells how years ago he undertook the defense of an old dorky who had been arrested as a chicken thief, and who in the days of slavery had been owned by the attorney's father.
It was the youthful advocate's first plea, and it was not brilliant in either construction or delivery. The dorky received a pretty severe sentence, his guilt being well proved.
"Thank you, sah," said the prisoner, addressing the Judge, cheerfully, when the sentence had been pronounced; "dat's mighty hard, but it ain't anything like what I expected. I thought, sah, dat between my character and pore Mars Henry's speech dey'd hang me, sure."

EXCUSES IN COURT.
SHAKESPEARE'S lines:
And often times, excusing of a fault,
Doth make the fault the worse by the excuse, are exemplified in a story told of Lord Eldon, who is said to have been the readiest of barristers in offering neat excuses to the Court. Eldon's remarks were frequently of the most impudent sort.
A young counsel, lacking in self-control, hearing judgment against his client, exclaimed that he was astonished at such a decision. He was ordered by the Judges to attend at the bar next morning, to answer for his irregular remark. Lord Eldon, then plain Mr. Scott, undertook to see his friend through the little difficulty. When his name was called, Scott arose and said:
"My Lord, I am sorry that my young friend has so far forgotten himself as to treat your honorable bench with disrespect. He is extremely penitent, and you will kindly ascribe his unintentional insult to his ignorance. You must see that it originated in that."

VERY TOUGH.
PERSON should be quite sure of his facts before he broaches a theory; that is, unless he has the impudence of the Frenchman or the wit of Lord Mansfield. The Frenchman, on being told that the facts contradicted a theory which he had rashly put forth, exclaimed, with frank impudence:
"The facts contradict my theory? Then so much worse for the facts."
On a trial before Lord Mansfield, a witness named Elm gave his evidence with remarkable clearness, although he was more than 30 years of age. Surprised at the old man's mentality, His Lordship examined him as to his habits of living, and found that he had throughout life been an early riser and a very temperate man.
"I have always observed," said the Chief Justice in an approving tone, "that without temperance and good habits, longevity is never attained."
The next witness, an elder brother, an early riser, also surprised His Lordship in the clearness of the evidence he gave.
"I suppose," said Lord Mansfield, "that you also are an early riser."
"No, my lord," answered the veteran frankly. "I like my bed at all times, and especially in the morning."
"Ah, but like your brother, you are no doubt a temperate man?" asked the Judge, anxious for the fate of his theory.
"My lord," replied this ancient Elm, who lived in an age when drinking was a fashionable vice, "I am a very old

Maj. Butt's Best Story to Appear in Post-Dispatch

Major ARCHIBALD BUTT.

MAJ. ARCHIBALD W. BUTT was one of the heroes of the Titanic. He was President Taft's military aide. After Maj. Butt's death the President made him the subject of one of the most heartfelt eulogies ever pronounced over a gallant man; praising his manhood, his courage, his loyalty, his self-sacrifice. Before entering upon military service, Maj. Butt displayed high literary ability. The best of his stories is "Both Sides of the Shield," a splendidly written romance of love and war. The Post-Dispatch has secured the right to print this great story in serial form. IT WILL BEGIN IN THE POST-DISPATCH NEXT MONDAY.

Domestic Dialogues

By Alma Woodward.

Scene—A dining room.
Characters—Mr. Carr, Mrs. Carr and Cyril (aged 8).
MR. CARR (carving with anatomical precision): What did you do today, son?
CYRIL: Went to the movin' pictures this afternoon.
MR. CARR (with knife upraised): Don't you think you're allowing the boy to go to the moving pictures too often, Mary?
MR. C. (slowly): No, I don't think so. In spite of what people say, I think a great many moving pictures are instructive to children. It's better, any way, than having him run around the streets with a lot of little hoodlums.
MR. C. (nodding his head solemnly): Yes, I guess you're right about that, Mary. Well, son, did you enjoy the pictures?
CYRIL (enthusiastically): Oh, they were one swell picture there, Pa; it got every body goin'.
MR. C. (pleased): Indeed? What was it?
CYRIL: A scene of travel—a trip up the Nile, or the temples of India, perhaps?
CYRIL (interrupting): Naw! Notin' like that, Pa. It wuz called "The Waiter's Dream."
MR. C. (puzzled): That doesn't sound very instructive, does it, Mary?
MR. C. (hopefully): Well, it must have had a moral, and I'm sure Cyril was the first to recognize it.
MR. C. (indulgently): Did it have a moral, son?
CYRIL (eagerly): Oh, sure! I'll tell you what it wuz. Yuh see, the man wuz a waiter an' every time he broke a dish or got assy to a customer the boss 'ud kick him an' take money out of his wages, too. An' he got tired of bein' treated mean, so he went home an' went to bed (only he went to bed with his pants on, Pa. Ain't that funny, an' he had a dream, see?).
MR. C. (becoming interested): Yes, and what did he dream, Cyril?
CYRIL (waxing warm): He dreamed that some rich guy gave him a whole lot of coin an' he went back to the same restaurant where he used to work in, an' he took a seat at a table an' a waiter

The Jarr Family (Is Mrs. Jarr Going to March in the Suffragette Parade? Watch)

Written for the Post-Dispatch By ROY L. Mc CARDELL

"YOU'LL be sure to be on hand and march in the great equal suffrage demonstration?" asked Mrs. Dinkston.
"Why, I thought you had forsaken the cause," replied Mrs. Jarr. "Are you still a suffragette?"
"I have a husband to support now," said Mrs. Dinkston. "And besides Mr. Dinkston is an enthusiast. He is going to march among the men, so he wants Mr. Jarr to join the ranks."
"Mr. Jarr won't do it, I am sure of that. In theory he is for votes for women, but he won't parade, I feel sure."
"It is too bad!" said Mrs. Dinkston. "I promised my husband that your husband would march. Mr. Dinkston will lead the business women's husbands' section of the parade."
"What section will you be leading?" asked Mrs. Jarr.
"Isn't it too bad?" answered Mrs. Dinkston, "but I won't be able to march at all. I am agent for some real estate and have a prospective customer to take out to look at the property Saturday afternoon. But I promised Mr. Dinkston I would get someone to take my place in the line of march and my first thought was of you. As my husband said, 'Get Mrs. Jarr. Many of our noblest states'ing women will be in danger of losing their positions if they quit work to parade. Most of them have husbands to support. So get some woman of the parastatic class to take your place.'"
"And do you think I am of the parastatic class?" asked Mrs. Jarr indignantly.
"Why, certainly," said Mrs. Dinkston. "Aren't you supported by your husband?"
"I do as much work as he does, and more!" flared Mrs. Jarr. "I keep the house. I keep his clothes in order. I look after his meals. I take care of his children—if doing all these things and many more without ever having a cent for myself is being a parasite, then I am one."
Just then Gertrude, the Jarr's light running domestic, announced that Mrs. Mudridge-Smith had called.
"There's your parasite for you!" said Mrs. Jarr, in an aside to Mrs. Dinkston. "She's married to a rich old man, has servants to wait on her, hand and foot, has an automobile—and I'll bet it is in the repair shop now. She never comes to see me when I'm running or ever takes me and my little children for a ride!"
Mrs. Jarr was interrupted at this point by Mrs. Mudridge-Smith sweeping into the room and kissing her effusively.
"Clara, you remember Mrs. Dinkston? Mrs. Gratch, that was?" said Mrs. Jarr to the newcomer.
"Oh, yes, perfectly," said Mrs. Mudridge-Smith. "I am a suffragette, too, you know. Everybody in our set is. 'Then you are just in time,' said Mrs. Jarr. 'Mrs. Gratch—I mean Mrs. Dinkston—has to work Saturday afternoon and she wishes some one of the parastatic class of women to take her place in the parade.'"
"Will Mrs. Belmont parade this year, or will Mrs. Clarence Mackey?" asked Mrs. Mudridge-Smith.
And then, remembering that this question betrayed her woeful lack of fashionable intelligence, she quickly added:
"But how stupid of me to ask such a question!"
"Mrs. Stryver is an anti-suffragette, isn't she?" asked Mrs. Dinkston.

"So you are going to march, then?" inquired Mrs. Dinkston.
"Me? I guess not!" said Mrs. Mudridge-Smith. "I expect my automobile out of the repair shop, and I've come to ask Mrs. Jarr to see the parade in it with me."
"So you see how it is, Mrs. Dinkston," said Mrs. Jarr affably. "We of the parastatic class give the cause our approval, but we will ride in automobiles. 'Yes, indeed!' purred Mrs. Mudridge-Smith.
"Why, will you?" returned Mrs. Rangle. "I hear 'Gus' wife at the corner is going, too."
"Well, that lets me out!" said Mrs. Jarr firmly. "If that sort of people have a vote I do not want one!"
"Oh, my dear, my dear!" said Mrs. Mudridge-Smith in an admonishing tone. "Really, you know it is the lower and middle class people whom we should encourage in the great movement of equal rights! Remember, we are all sisters!"

R&G Model C116 Corset / Price, Model F116 Corset / Price, Model C117 Basiste / $2.00, Model F117 Basiste / $3.00

THE elastic is in strips instead of one whole piece. Movement of the lower limbs is easy and natural and the elastic fabric lasts. It cannot become wrinkled. Each strip is designed to withstand the correct degree of tension at that point.

This gives perfect ventilation, prevents perspiration and preserves the "life" of the elastic—and therefore of the corset.

Instant popularity has been accorded to this new model.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis

Consumptive patients need no longer dread either the fasts that formerly overtook them or the long and arduous journey to some distant sanatorium. Hundreds are now regaining health at the cost of a few bottles of medicine. Here is one who speaks from experience.
230 84th St., Colwyn (Darby), Pa.
"Gentlemen: For four years I was troubled with cough, which gradually became a case of consumption, and I was ordered to a Consumptive hospital. My nephew would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alternative. Before I had taken the medicine three weeks I commenced getting well. I am in excellent health now and have been completely cured for ten years. I strongly recommend it."
(Signed) MRS. MARY WARRON.
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup and Lung Trouble, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poison, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Babcock Drug Co., Wolf-Watson Drug Co., Judson & Gold Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recovery and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa. for additional literature.

SEA PATROL ONLY MEANS GUARDING KNOWN HIGHWAYS

Well Defined Lanes Are Much Traveled by Captains Who See Safety in Company.

USUALLY SHORTEST ROUTE

Sailors Know Craft and Directions as a City Man Knows Turns of Street Cars.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The degree of incredulity with which one accepts the suggestion to patrol the seas to avert repetition of the Titanic disaster is the inverse of that person's knowledge of the seas, just as certainly as was the same person's astonishment at the coincidence of so many liners being near the Titanic when that great ship sent abroad its call for aid.

Those familiar with the sea and its ways know that it is marked off into highways, just as the land. Any maritime agency knew when the news of the Titanic being in a bad way reached shore that there would be a gathering of ships in response to the calls of distress. Maps frequently show routings of ships between prominent ports but this does not impress the observer as much as to be on deck of a steamer and point out to an experienced seaman a ship on the horizon and hear him say:

"That is a German ship bound for the Gulf," just as the city man three blocks away will watch a street car turn a corner and remark, "We have missed a Broadway car."

Direction Tells Destination.
Passing steamers in mid-ocean is not infrequent and the ocean highways are so clearly known to seafarers that the direction taken by the vessel will tell what port is the destination.

The North Atlantic highway is one of the most traveled roadways in the great bodies of water and on clear days it is seldom that ships do not sight each other. This route changes with the season, as the icebergs which come annually from Greenland crowd the ships to the south and force them to spend a few hours longer on the trip across than the owners care to have them do. Late in the summer, when the warm water has disposed of the floating mountains of ice, the liners move northward and take the shortest cut between England and this continent.

The less traveled highways are those between ports a great distance apart, as from New York to Capetown. Some steamers make this trip regularly, but they are few. The Pacific Ocean highways are less traveled than the Atlantic, but they are as definitely marked. Even tramp steamers keep in these highways as a safety measure.

Greater Hope of Rescue.
On shipboard there is never a sense of absolute security and if disaster is to come, the sailors want it to be where there is a chance of rescue, where there is a likelihood of being picked up by a passing vessel. This is why these routes are called highways or lanes, in addition to the fact that they usually mark the shortest distance between principal ports.

These ocean pathways date from the beginning of navigation. The original pathways were those of the Mediterranean. Usually they were the shortest route across from port to port. The longer ones were marked by islands, which gave the ocean travelers a sense of security that outweighed the time lost in deviating from the short line. Today the same principle governs the highways which are traveled by ships bound for nearby ports. They follow the same path within few miles of their destination and then turn at sharp angle from the main highway.

Great Deserts of Sea.
There are ocean deserts, too. These are great spaces of water, which are cut by few keels. The more experience a captain has had, the less likely he is to venture into a desert, just as an experienced plainsman steers clear of the waterless strips of the country. The most noted is the Sargasso Sea, that haven for derelicts where, to take to a lifeboat, would be certain death in the tangle of floating vegetation that about it.

The largest water desert is a triangular space between South America and New Zealand, in the Pacific Ocean. The Indian Ocean has a desert almost as large. It extends from the African coast to Australia.

The patrol service for the ocean highways would necessarily be international in scope and if it included several such craft as the Seneca, the United States derelict and iceberg destroyer and the only boat of the kind on the seas, prominent maritime men declare, the service would quickly pay for itself, though it would not at once stop sea horrors.

THOUGHT WAVES AS CURE

CHICAGO, May 10.—Thought waves are credited by Joy Morton, millionaire railroad man and bank director, with curing his son, Sterling Morton of 13, of phoid fever. The son has been sick since March 11, and was operated on once at the most critical stage of the disease. The attending physician, Dr. Thomas Lewis, declared at the time that there was no hope for the life of his patient. But Morton inexplicably rallied.

"We passed the word to our friends to send thought waves of health to Sterling," said the elder Morton today, "and they did. I am convinced that if my son gets well it will be due to the indomitable faith of his loving friends."

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH. A HARMLESS REMEDY RESTORES COLOR.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time? Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair. Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Agent: Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.—ADV.

"Paradise of American Hospitality."

St. Louis is thus designated in an article written by Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, former French Ambassador to England and the great authority on arbitration. The baron visited St. Louis, and was entertained here. He describes particularly one prominent citizen and his home.

Iceberg Victim Rescued by Telepathy.

William T. Stead, the famous English writer who was lost on the Titanic, wrote a story which is of compelling interest in view of the great sea tragedy. It tells of a shipwreck similar to that of the Titanic and in the same neighborhood, and relates how a survivor on an iceberg was rescued through telepathy. This story is reproduced, with a striking illustration.

"Ideal Forest Park."

A beautiful color page gives an artist's idea of the great pleasure ground of St. Louis when the proposed golf links, tennis courts, ball grounds and other free facilities for outdoor sports are created.

Steam Age Yielding to Oil Age.

The inventor of the oil-burning engine, which is revolutionizing motor power on land and sea, writes of the new "prime mover." This is of direct interest to St. Louis since the American plant of the company is being built here.

Panama Canal Almost Completed.

Latest photographs show how near to completion is this greatest of engineering works.

Kitty Cobb's Champion.

His name is Bob Caldecott, as you may suspect. Bob takes occasion to object to his sister's thinly-veiled slurs on Kitty by telling her a few home truths about the rich rake to whom she is engaged. James Montgomery Flagg's great picture serial romance grows more and more romantic.

One of Jack London's Best.

The Kipling of the Klondike has another story in the Fiction Section which helps to prove that he "writes with a knife blade and cuts down to the marrow of human emotions." Read "The Great Interrogation."

Cyclone and Flood Photographs.

A full page of photographs showing vividly the havoc wrought by recent Oklahoma cyclones and the flood in the lower Mississippi Valley, is a feature of the Picture Section. Scenes at Gen. Fred D. Grant's funeral are also shown.

Crimes of Paris Auto Bandits.

Missouri bank robbers were outdone in deviltry by this Parisian gang just broken up. There is a vivid description of the robbery of the bank of Chantilly, attended with three murders, and of the battle near Paris where the bandit leader, "the phantom chauffeur," was slain.

CARDINALS HAVE CHANCE TO CLIMB; "BEANS" ARE HERE

But Logical Tail-Enders of the League Have Been Playing Good Baseball.

PERDUE PITCHING WELL

He's the Only Real Live Star of the New Englanders' Staff.

HUB PERDUE WILL HOOK UP WITH HARRY SALLIE

HARRY SALLIE, the huskyberry from Hingham, O., who flings with the lardboard fin, will either lose the ninth straight or smash the club's losing streak into smithereens this afternoon. Bresnahan intends to put the burden on Harry's shoulders in the first bout with the Braves of Boston.

Hub Perdue, once with the Cubs, who had an unsullied record of four successive conquests until he came West and stubbed his toe on his old stomping ground in Chicago Monday, will be Manager Kling's pitching selection. Of course, Manager Johnny will do the receiving.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

If the Cardinals are destined ever to win another game, the club should get going in the next four days, while the Braves of Boston are in town.

Johnny Kling's entry is the one club in the Lynch league which the Cardinals figure to beat at this stage of the proceedings. Kling has a pretty pet club, in the field and at bat, but his pitchers are none too strong. The Braves are hitting like fiends and usually hammer home their victories before the Cardinals fling, but if one Cardinal pitcher can emulate the antics of a big league hurler in any one of the next four games, the crippled and lame kids of Roger Bresnahan should break their long losing streak.

Brooklyn probably has a weaker club than Boston in eight of the nine positions. But in Stuck, Rucker, Burke and Schardt, the Superbas have a quartet of pitchers who are liable to bob up with a two or three-hit game any old time. This year Boston has an army of pitchers but Hub Perdue, a Chicago discolor, Olie Hess, a southpaw formerly with Cleveland, are the only reliable curvists. Hess got the Cubs down with one hit Thursday.

Matty Is Vulnerable. Poor pitching has been the chief reason for the Cardinals' lack of showing. With any kind of pitching at all, at all, the Cards would have beaten Matty Thursday. Big Six was hit hard, but Woodburn was hit harder and the Cardinals early in the game saw they were doomed to defeat. Someone circulated the report Thursday that Woodburn was getting his last try-out with the Cardinals' staff. "Well, if it's Woodie didn't deliver Thursday he would be relegated to the scrap heap, but Bresnahan intends to turn admit at least two of his Braves before the end of next week.

Well, Bresnahan is the only man who can determine whether Woodburn is to stay or go. Eugene issued eight bases on balls and yielded 11 hits. There was enough to lose several games. Four of the eight men passed by Woodburn eventually scored. Five bases were pilfered, chiefly because Woodburn can't hold the runners on. The defense rests its case.

Boston Trims Cubs. Mr. Kling's Braves put over a stirring victory at the expense of the Cubs Thursday, 3-1. Olie Hess, last year in the Southern League and prior to that time a member of the Cleveland Naps, set the Braves down with one single, which came in the eighth inning and netted a run.

Speed won for the Deaneboro boys. In the first inning Vin Campbell, the St. Louis boy, singled and swiped second. He scored on Kline's single. Then Kline stole second and scored on Devin's single, two hits netting two runs.

Not a Chicago player reached second until the eighth inning. The Hotman walked, went to third on Zimmerman's double and scored on an infield out.

With Kling, hero of four world's championship Chicago teams, Art Devlin, Vin Campbell, Bill Sweeney and Doc Miller, the Braves have an interesting lot of athletes.

By the score of 8-5, the Cardinals lost their fourth straight game to the Giants Thursday, making their ninth consecutive reverse or 15 defeats in the past 16 games.

Christy Mathewson, author and athlete, allowed the champions to their final conquest, but Mr. Matty was fortunate that the Cardinal pitching, as usual, was weak. Gene Woodburn adorned the bill for the locals, and Gene was as wild as he usually is, and in addition thereto, he was hit hard and at inopportune times.

There's a big day for Charlie Herzog, the thirty-third sacker. Two doubles and two singles out of five times up was all Charlie did.

Kline and Evans broke even. A double and single apiece.

Elmer Miller went hitless, but he pulled a pair of nice catches. Then he uncashed a throw to the plate that had plenty of speed, but not the right aim. Elmer has the arm and will demand respect from even the speedy Giants.

Woodburn fanned twice. So did Miller. Matty is death to a beginner like Elmer. A triple, a single and walk for Big Six.

Evans got back into the game and celebrated with a single and a double. Yes, at all the Braves behind the plate. McGraw's first throw behind the plate. McGraw is wise enough to give Harry practices in the field, and McGraw is smart against the New York Authorities Agree to Co-operate in Stamping Out Gambling.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Coincident with the announcement that a determined effort was being made to throttle the activities of organized gamblers in plying their trade in baseball, pledges were placed on record by officials of the major leagues and by the authorities in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City to co-operate for the elimination of gambling from the national sport. Police Commissioner Waldo said:

"The same action will be taken by the police of the Greater City in baseball as in all other forms of gambling. Gambling in baseball will not be tolerated."

District Attorney Crosby of King's County assigned agents to collect evidence to be presented to a grand jury. In Jersey City the police issued a call for a special meeting Wednesday to consider the matter.

Blind Pools Popular. Investigators learned today that a thriving trade is carried on in the sale of tickets in "blind pools." These tickets are to be had in hundreds of saloons and cigar stands, as well as in office buildings, where agents for the pool combine solicit patronage. Customers accept an envelope, in which is enclosed a ticket, on which the names of one each from the National, American and International League teams are punched. The winner of the pool is the person holding a ticket, at the conclusion of a week's play, naming the teams of the three leagues whose total score is the highest.

The crusade is being directed against this pool selling as well as against "open" betting practiced on baseball grounds in Manhattan and Brooklyn. Much of this betting is conducted by gamblers who formerly were bookmakers at the racetracks. Those identified with the best interests of baseball said today that they were determined the stigma of gambling should not attach itself to the national sport and subject it to the attacks which crushed the sport of horse racing.

THIS GOES EITHER WAY. The "Giants" are going. Oh, joy! Oh, joy! The "Beanebs" are coming. Oh, joy! Oh, joy! We'll give them a wallop. Will we not? Perhaps, but it's probable we will not.

The "Beanebs" are pie for us. Are they not? For us they are easy. Yes, they are not. We'll hammer their pitchers from off the hill. And give them a larping—Yes, we will!

Where are the crowds of yesterday? Derrill Pratt is an ex-football star. All right, Derrill, but don't forget that baseball should be handled only with the hands. Nix on the drop kicks.

The Browns and Yankees are "waiting 'em out," but neither one is standing pat on a very fat percentage. President Thomas Lynch is determined to stamp out gambling at the National League ball parks. We can prove an alibi. Gambling is betting on games of chance; if there is no element of chance it's not gambling. There is no gambling at Robison Field.

The worst that could be done to a fellow caught betting on the Cardinals would be to notify his friends and send him to the observation ward; the other fellow should be pinched on the more serious charge of highway robbery.

"Gunboat" Smith rammed into "Teebeers" Jim Stewart Thursday night. "Gunboat" went down by the head.

McFARLAND'S OPPONENT RUNS OUT OF THE RING

FALL RIVER, Mass., May 10.—Packer McFarland, the Chicago whirlwind, was given the decision in a five-round exhibition here last night against Johnny Connolly, announced as the champion of Scotland. The bout was slated to go 10 rounds, but at the end of the fifth round Connolly ran out of the ring. Connolly had been smashed all over the ring for 15 minutes, and he concluded that he would not be made a mark of any longer. He knew that he was outclassed, and no one denied that fact. As soon as the bell rang at the end of the fifth, Connolly walked to his corner and started to crawl through the ropes. He managed to get half way through when his manager caught hold of him and tried to keep him from going to the dressing room. He persisted, however, and broke away from his trainer and ran for his clothes.

Morris and Pelky Draw. NORTH ADAMS, Mass., May 10.—Andy Morris of Boston and Archy Pelky of Chicopee boxed a 10-round draw before the Western Gateway Club, in this city, last night. After a rather tame start, the big fellows mixed it more freely toward the end of the bout, and the final round was the best of the evening.

McIntyre Puts Out Jay. HOULTON, Me., May 10.—Before 800 people, in what was supposed to be a six-round bout between Sylvester Jay of Houlton and Ernest McIntyre of Woodstock, N. B., last night, Jay was counted out in the first round.

BUGS RAYMOND WILL NOT WORK FOR GIANTS

"Bugs" Raymond, the recalcitrant hurler who was reinstated by the National Commission Thursday, will not return to the Giant fold and find welcome. McGraw agreed to Raymond's reinstatement, he said Thursday, because Raymond's wife pleaded the case. However, there's no room on the New York club for "Bugs" and he will have to seek employment elsewhere.

NEW TENPIN LEADERS IN FIVE-MAN EVENTS

By upsetting 2555 pins, the Hyde Parkers moved into first place for the scratch teams in the City Association tenpin tournament Thursday evening, displacing the Old Lynces, who owned a total of 2326. The following players make up the new leaders: Vandewater, Deen, Langenberg, Schlenk and J. Sanders. Deen's 604 was high. In the handicap division, the A. J. Kuba, with an allowance of 254 pins, hung up a mark of 2975, which looks like a winner. Oestricher's 617 was high for this team.

The Peters-Eichler Heating Co. defeated the American Radiator Co., 17 to 13. The winners will play the Middaugh-Collins Covering Co. next Saturday.

NEW WHITE HOPE OFFERED FIGHTS AT EASTERN CLUB

Luther McCarthy, Who Knocked Out Morris, Deluged With Chances to Box.

Advices from Billy McCarney, manager of Luther McCarthy, the Springfield, Mo., giant who knocked out Carl Morris, state that the new "hope" has been offered $3500 by the Madison Square Garden Athletic Club to box 10 rounds with Jim Stewart. McCarthy has the offer under advisement. McCarthy is also dicker with Tom O'Rourke's National Sporting Club, of New York, for a bout with Palzer. McCarthy is holding out for $5000, win, lose or draw.

In the meanwhile McCarthy is not eager to have McCarthy rushed into competition with the good ones, as yet. He has made arrangements with Jeff Clarke, the husky Joplin negro known as the "Fighting Ghost," to box with McCarthy and brush up his boxing. The big fellow can stand a good deal of punishment, but McCarthy wants him to gain more cleverness.

Al McMurray, who handles Andy Morris, another Eastern "hope," has also written McCarthy asking for a match.

Altogether it appears like a big time for McCarthy and McCarthy, if the "hone" can come through with anything that looks like real fighting.

Kirk Has No "Clack." Olie Kirk will have to step faster than he has been forced to in any of his recent fights when he meets Jack Shelton at the Irish-American Athletic Club Saturday night. Shelton will like the eight rounds better than Kirk, although the latter has shown he can go the route and be strong. He will, however, have a hard time holding back the rushes of Shelton for the period. Shelton is a strong, vicious scrapper and at the distance may prove Kirk's master. In their previous fights Kirk has always been able to stab him with a straight left and keep him at his distance for the amateur route.

The Complete Card. Following is the complete card for the final entertainment of the club:

Kid Axel vs. Fred Diebel, 152 pounds, six rounds.

Paddy Kelly vs. Jack Tierney, 133 pounds, six rounds.

Harry Wade vs. Ray Bushnell, 116 pounds, six rounds.

Jack Shelton vs. Olie Kirk, 126 pounds, eight rounds.

Jim Flynn has arrived at Las Vegas ready to start training for his bout with Jack Johnson, July 4. Al Williams, sparring partner, and Promoter Jack Curley, were with Flynn.

Tom Jones, for Ad Wolgast, has accepted a $15,000 offer to box Packer McFarland, a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden before the end of the month.

Gene Sullivan of Butte, Mont., knocked out "Texas" Harry Lewis at Lincoln, Neb., Thursday.

Choctaws Make Great Showing. The work of the Choctaws featured Thursday night in the city cooked hot tournament now in progress at the Royal Alton. The Choctaws got a total of 1408 pins, winning four games from the Placitos. Other results were: B. D. A. C. 4, Aresco 1; Nelson, Bakers 3, Camanches 2.

Otto Hess, a come-back, has the distinction of hurling the first one-hit game in the history of the Lowell A. C. last night, Harry Hall of Boston got the decision over Joe Nelson of Lawrence in the seventh round of what was intended to be a 10-round bout.

Pikeway Meets Illini at Tenn. A dual tennis meet between Illinois and Washington universities will be inaugurated on the former's courts Saturday afternoon. The Illini will play the doubles for Washington, while McNally, Barnes, Gaillet, Kamps and Smith will perform in singles.

Giants Pass Reds in Race. By winning their fourth straight game from the Cardinals Thursday, while the Reds were losing, 4-3, to the Phillies, the Giants moved into first place in the tender young National League race. McGraw's men are one-half game ahead of O'Day's demons.

Hall Defends Nelson. LOWELL, Mass., May 10.—In the main day night of the Lowell A. C. last night, Harry Hall of Boston got the decision over Joe Nelson of Lawrence in the seventh round of what was intended to be a 10-round bout.

Pikeway Meets Illini at Tenn. A dual tennis meet between Illinois and Washington universities will be inaugurated on the former's courts Saturday afternoon. The Illini will play the doubles for Washington, while McNally, Barnes, Gaillet, Kamps and Smith will perform in singles.

REFeree HANDS DOWN DECISION IN GOTHAM FIGHT

Verdict in Favor of Stewart First Given Officially Under Frawley Law.

By ROBERT EDGREN.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Referee Patsy Haley caught Jim Stewart's arm and held it up. This was at the end of Stewart's 10-round bout with Gunboat Smith last night at the National Sporting Club. Haley was giving Stewart the official decision.

It was the first decision rendered in a New York professional bout since the Frawley law came in.

The spectators, amazed, whispered to each other. "Is it a decision?" "Are they giving decisions now?" "What will the Boxing Commission do?"

Puzzled, they went out slowly. In the hall stood Tom O'Rourke looking happy. "Was it a decision, Tom? Has the Boxing Commission changed the rule?" Everybody wanted to know the meaning of the innovation. And O'Rourke explained.

"Yes," he said. "Haley gave the official decision. Before the bout began Charlie Doerserick told him. We intend to have decisions after this. There's no legal reason why we shouldn't have decisions. The Commission has no legal right to discriminate and bar decisions in professional bouts while it allows decisions in amateur bouts. 'The Frawley law refers to these bouts as 'contests.' There isn't such a thing as a contest in which there can't be a winner and a loser. We'll take this up to the Attorney-General tomorrow. If we have a decision, it'll decide in our favor. O'Rourke likes the idea of having decisions."

Decision Good for Sport. I believe that the giving of decisions will be good for the sport. A "contest" without a winner and a loser is like a dog without a head or a tail. The giving of decisions will make the boxers do their best. If a decision had been rendered after the Klaus-Dillon affair at the garden, it wouldn't have been such a miserable stalling match. No boxer objects to having "10 rounds-no decision" recorded opposite the name of a champion or a near-champion. But no boxer cares to have a "lost" entered in the record book.

Decisions will stop this stalling and make better boxing.

As for that Stewart-Gunboat Smith fight—Gunboat gave James a hard fight for three or four rounds and was saved by the bell himself at the end of the seventh and before the word was over had taken a severe beating. Stewart deserved the decision.

GIANTS SWIPE FIFTEEN BASES IN FOUR GAMES

Stealing 15 bases in four games against the Cardinals in the series just closed, the Giants are off to a flying start in their race for the speed honors of the National League. Last year the Giants swiped 147 bags, an average of 37.5 steals to the game. Cincinnati was the only club close in this department, with 259 pilfers. Detroit led in the American League with 277.

To date this season, the Giants have averaged better than three steals to the game. They all but averaged four to the game here. The thefts were divided as follows: Snodgrass, 4; Doyle, 2; Herzog, 2; Becker, 2; Devore, 2; Mierke, 1; Shaffer, 1; Burns, 1.

WHITE SOX WILL FALL BACK SOON. BROWNS DECLARE

Wallace's Men Believe League Leaders Due for a Hard Fall.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.

NEW YORK, May 10. NEW YORK is a great place to spend an off-day, but the Browns have been here four days now, and the idleness is causing the players to become nervous. They are itching for the chance to get out on the pasture and do some work.

One effect of the long string of off-days had on some of the scribes here was to pen a pipe dream about a rumored trade between the Yankees and the Washington Nationals. With Hal Chase and Walter Johnson as the players involved, the long bamboo must have been drawing easy when that one was piped.

Clark Griffith, who is now kidding the public by having the Nationals in the first division, had enough experience while managing the Yankees to convince himself that he wants no more of an athlete of the Walter Johnson of this Speaker stripe.

No Chance to Make Trade. But a pretty good tip is that Walter Johnson will not come here for Hal Chase. Also that this Speaker is pretty sure of drawing his salary from the Boston club for some time to come. But the story of the rumored trade, involving a couple of New York papers, has worked up the few fans who continue to be interested in the Yankees.

Plutius has kept the Browns from playing nine of their scheduled games, to date. The prevented shows follow: Three here with the Yankees, one in Cleveland, two with Chicago, one in St. Louis, one in Detroit, two with Cleveland in St. Louis. That means the Browns will be kept pretty busy when they meet these same teams again. While it will be pretty hard on the regular in and outlanders, Wallace is pretty well fixed as to pitchers. He is packing 10 twirlers, three of them left-handers, and in as much as his squad is well within the limit, he will probably hold onto that number until one or more may prove that they are not worth retaining.

With Lee Tannehill, who beat "Buck" Weaver out of the regular shortstop's job, on the injured list, the Browns now look for James John Callahan's outfit to come back to earth and drop into the second division, where it belongs. The Browns cannot "see" the Sox. And this despite the fact that the immaculate-bosomed athletes have won four of the six games played against the Wallacean tribe.

White Sox Will Fall Back. They figure that the White Sox have been hitting out of their heads, and as soon as the twirlers settle down to their real stride, which they are sure to do as soon as Old Sox goes on the job full force, that the Sox will slump.

We almost forgot—if it does not rain today—the Browns and Yanks will meet in their long delayed opening. Only one game can be played on this visit, as the Browns hike out tonight for Boston, where they open with the Red Sox Saturday. If they play today it will probably be Geo. Baumgardner vs. Jack Quinn.

AMATEUR NOTES

The Buffalo Springs will play the Jerseyville (Ill.) team Sunday. Out-of-town teams wanting games, address Leo Holmstead, 4207 Evans avenue.

HOW TO BE POPULAR.

ONE of the best ways to make friends is to creep up on the victim, black-jack him, rob him and then kick him in the pants, or other available locality. This is sure to make you popular with the party experiencing the fondling.

At least this must be the St. Louis National League club's theory. Judging from the way it endeavors to please its paid attendance, the only way to make the howling mob love you is to insult him.

For example: After being weeded of the customary grand stand price, Thursday's mob surged into the grand stand. He should have been given a program of what was coming off; but having submitted for the ages to the tyranny of organized baseball's ways he coughed up 5 cents for the information. This imposition might have been condoned but for the fact that after he paid for the information he didn't get it. In fact the program had Annas backed off the tape. It was a lot of lies about men being in the game who were not there; and of players batting in turns they did not take.

Even this sort of thing is usually submitted to with resignation. If the umpire is on the job with the announcement.

HE NEVER IS.

BUT Mr. Rigler was not THERE. Not only did he not announce the changes, but when a member of the press sent a note to him asking for the correct batting order he tore the paper in fragments and spat in scorn, by way of reply. To this day, unless he has read the morning paper, the mob does not know exactly what the batting order of that game was.

HIS HOUSE NOT IN ORDER.

NOW, if this isn't the limit in the way of manning a man's bankroll and slipping him nothing for the paring, we'd like to know what is. Nothing could better indicate the slippish conditions prevailing at Robison Field than the lack of attention to detail. Umpire Rigler's act was merely that of a boor—he can be overlooked as a necessary evil of the environment. But the St. Louis National League Club we have with us every day, and to be overlooked in what he pays for, is not part of a fan's enjoyment where it happens daily.

GOING TO SEED.

THAT the park episode is only one instance in which the club's office laxity is apparent is shown in its recent dealings with the National League and with other clubs. Up to Thursday the office has failed to notify the National Commission that Breenahan has authority to make deals. This failure has cost the club money on two occasions. On two others intention to detail has resulted in National Commission decisions against it.

Once the club lost $500 through slipshod methods. Breenahan had sold "Hickory" Johnson for the waiver price to an American League club. But when he came to deliver, he found that he had not been given authority to make trades. The club then proceeded to sell Johnson to Omaha for $750, a loss of $500. Before the Cardinals can be a success, it appears a little housecleaning, whitewashing and the like would be in order. The club is entitled to fitter of its checkbook in any way it wants to, but it certainly cannot expect to make friends by selling misinformation and then permitting its patrons be ignored by an umpire paid to do things.

AMICABLE FIGHTS POPULAR.

A DOLPH WOLGAST, once designated the "Tentonic Whirlwind," is evidently working himself up to the tornado class with difference, since the surgeon's knife out short his activity—and his vermillion appendix. Thanksgiving day Adolph spent recovering from an operation and since that time the champion of all 135-pounders has not entered the ring.

The manner of his return to his former element reminds one of a reluctant bather entering the ocean. Adolph's first effort will be on Saturday night, when he encounters Willie Ritchie on the coast. The men will hardly have time to shake hands and back off before the bout will be over. It's a four-round affair. Willie and Adolph have training quarters side by side. They are fast friends, too. Thus the battle will be a safe one to bet on—if you pick a draw as the result.

NO CHANCE TO LOSE.

A DOLPH'S next probable venture will be in New York, where they have 10-round contests. There's nothing to be lost there, for the Oldest Inhabitant has forgotten when all the newspapers agreed on the result of a contest. It's safe to say at least one writer will be strong enough FOR the

JOHNNY BENDER SIGNS TO COACH NORTHWEST TEAM

No successor has been named for Coach John Bender of St. Louis U., who has resigned his post at the local school to become director of athletics at Washington State College of Pullman, Wash. It is understood that more than 30 applications have been received for the Billiken job, and among the applicants are several graduates of the school, but the Athletic Board has taken no steps to fill the vacancy.

Bender's withdrawal comes as a surprise to the school's followers. Bender was considered highly successful here, having won the State title two years running. By beating Missouri and tying Syracuse last fall, he achieved a feat few persons thought possible. However, Bender was unable to reach an agreement over his salary and the identity of a new contract and was forced to resign.

Back to His Old Job.

Bender goes back to the old school where he scored his first success. He coached the Washington State team in 1907-08, and in those two years maintained an inviolate record in the Pacific Northwest. 'Twas Bender's team that defeated the then unbeaten St. Louis U. eleven, coached by Eddie Cochem, on Christmas day, 1907. Washington won from the blue and white eleven on a field covered with ice and water, 13-6.

Bender will remain in St. Louis until he completes his law course at St. Louis U.; he will take charge at Washington State next

A LOVING ARRANGEMENT.

FOLLOWING that, on July 4, Wolgast is going in for more calisthenics with Jose Rivers as his opponent. Jose is a featherweight with elephantiasis. He has recently swelled up into the lightweight limit and wants a chance to hook onto a little dough. Considerably he matched with Wolgast for a 20-round fight. Wolgast insisted it be on condition that they meet later, on Labor day, at the same distance which makes it plain that the first encounter is going to be about as vicious as a family reunion.

Adolph has been out of the money-getting grind quite a while, it is true; but there's no use musing over forcing him out of a United States mint in the endeavor to make up lost time, Adolph.

IS IT A VAIN HOPE?

THE Browns have spent three days doing nothing. Let us hope they will change their tactics and not occupy the entire season in this manner.

Grover Hays Batters Goodman.

COLUMBUS, O., May 10.—Fighting like wildcats from start to finish, Danny Goodman and Grover Hays of Columbus fought the best 10 rounds seen in this city since the revival of the fight game. Hays, although no decision was given, battered Goodman all the way.

Johnny Albanese forced Jim Watts of Indianapolis to throw up the sponge in seven rounds. Watts was missed time and time again.

Maloney had the better of the first four rounds. Bradley made a strong rally and honors were divided in the last two sessions.

Millers Meet Grafton Sunday.

The Ben Millers will play Grafton at Christian Brothers Campus Sunday. The Ben Millers have been greatly strengthened by the addition of Smith and Ruetter and feel confident that from now on they will go right to the top. In fact, Sebastian says they have lost more games so far this year than they will lose the rest of the year. Grafton will use Schmalke from the Cotton States League.

TO CURE SICK, SOUR, BILIOUS STOMACH, INDIGESTION AND GAS TAKE CASCARETS.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the stomach. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you up tomorrow—a 10-cent box will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

WHITE SOX WILL FALL BACK SOON, BROWNS DECLARE

Wallace's Men Believe League Leaders Due for a Hard Fall.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.

NEW YORK, May 10. — The White Sox are a great place to spend an off-day, but the Browns have been here four days now, and the idleness is causing the players to become nervous. They are itching for the chance to get out on the pasture and do some work.

One effect of the long string of off-days had on some of the scribes here was to pen a pipe dream about a rumored trade between the Yankees and the Washington Nationals. With Hal Chase and Walter Johnson as the players involved, the long bamboo must have been drawing eyes when that was piped. Clark Griffith, who is now kidding the public by having the Nationals in the first division, had enough experience while managing the Yankees to convince himself that he wants no more of Hal Chase. The New York end of the deal may be all right. 'Tis whispered that Manager Wolverton of the Klitties realizes he can't depend on Chase for six months' steady work, and would welcome a trade if he could land an athlete of the Walter Johnson or Tris Speaker stripe.

No Chance to Make Trade. But a pretty good tip is that Walter Johnson will not come here for Hal Chase. Also that Tris Speaker is pretty sure of drawing his salary from the Boston club for some time to come. But the story of the rumored trade, printed in a couple of New York papers, has worked up the few fans who continue to be interested in the Yanks here.

Plutius has kept the Browns from playing nine of their scheduled games, to date. The prevented shows follow: Three here with the Yankees, one in Cleveland, two with Chicago in St. Louis, one in Detroit, two with Cleveland in St. Louis. That means the Browns will be kept pretty busy when they meet these same teams again. While it will be pretty hard on the regular in and outfielders, Wallace is pretty well fixed as to pitchers. He is packing 10 twirlers, three of them left-handers and in as much as his squad is well within the limit, he will probably hold onto that number until one or more may prove that they are not worth retaining.

With Lee Tannehill, who beat "Buck" Weaver out of the regular shortstop's job, on the injured list, the Browns now look for James John Callahan's outfit to come back to earth and drop into the second division, where it belongs. The Browns cannot "see" the Sox. And this despite the fact that the immaculate-haired athletes have won four of the six games played against the Wallacean tribe.

White Sox Will Fall Back. They figure that the White Sox have been hitting out of their heads, and as soon as the twirlers settle down to their real stride, which they are sure to do as soon as Old Sol goes on the job full force, that the Sox will slump.

We almost forgot—if it does not rain today—the Browns and Yanks will meet in their long delayed opening. Only one game can be played on this visit, as the Browns like out tonight for Boston, where they open with the Red Sox Saturday. If they play today it will probably be Geo. Baumgardner vs. Jack Quinn.

AMATEUR NOTES

The Buffalo Springs will play the Jerseyville (Ill.) team Sunday. Out-of-town teams wanting games, address Leo Hoffmeyer, 4207 Evans avenue.

Peteron's Bloomer Girls play in Pacific, Mo., Sunday. This game opens the Bloomer Girls' season. For games with the girls, address C. Peterson, 2410 Goodie avenue.

The Simple J. baseball team defeated the Burd team, 14 to 8. The Simple J. desires games with teams playing in the 11-year-old class. Address H. Lewis, Delmar 4025L.

The "All Stars" of the auditor's office of the Washash will play the "Athletes" of the same office at Forest Park, Saturday, May 15. Pfeiffer will pitch for the Stars and Roberts for the Athletics.

The Donnelly Stars defeated the Alton Blues with a score of 13 to 9. They would like to book games with all uniformed teams playing in the 13 and 14 year old class. Address John T. Radigan, 2039 Walsh street.

The White Ribbons gained a reputation by defeating the Banner Blues by a score of 15 to 3.

The Toledo defeated the Standard A. C., 13 to 4. They would like to book games with teams playing in the 14-year-old class. Washash preferred. Address L. Mottel, 1419 Menard street.

The Hornets defeated the Dagens Ramblers, 12 to 2. The Hornets desire games with the Hornets, address H. Hill, 3112 Converse avenue, East St. Louis.

HOW TO BE POPULAR.

ONE of the best ways to make friends is to creep up on the victim, black-jack him, rob him and then kick him in the pantry, or other available locality. This is sure to make you popular with the party experiencing the fondling.

At least this must be the St. Louis National League club's theory. Judging from the way it endeavors to please its paid attendance, the only way to make the howling mob love you is to insult him.

For example: After being weeded of the customary grand stand price, Thursday's mob surged into the grand stand. He should have been given a program of what was coming off; but having submitted for the ages to the tyranny of organized baseball's ways he coughed up 5 cents for the information. This imposition might have been condoned but for the fact that after he paid for the information he didn't get it. In fact the program had Ananias backed off the tape.

Even this sort of thing is usually submitted to with resignation, if the umpire is on the job with the announcement.

HE NEVER IS.

BUT Mr. Rigler was not THERE. Not only did he not announce the changes, but when a member of the press sent a note to him asking for the correct batting order he tore the paper in fragments and spat in scorn, by way of reply. To this day, unless he has read the morning paper, the mob does not know exactly what the batting order of that game was.

HIS HOUSE NOT IN ORDER.

NOW, if this isn't the limit in the way of manuevering a man's hankroll and slipping him nothing for the parings, we'd like to know what is. Nothing could better indicate the aliphoid conditions prevailing at Robison Field than the lack of attention to detail. Umpire Rigler's action was merely that of a boob—he can be overlooked as a necessary evil of the environment. But the St. Louis National League Club have with us every day, and to be overlooked in what he pays for, is not part of a fan's enjoyment where it happens daily.

GOING TO SEED.

THAT the park episode is only one instance in which the club's office laxity is apparent is shown in its recent dealings with the National League and with other clubs. Up to Thursday the office has failed to notify the National Commission that Bresnahan has authority to make deals. This failure has cost the club money on two occasions. On two others inattention to detail has resulted in National Commission decisions against it.

Once the club lost $800 through slipshod methods. Bresnahan had sold "Hickory" Johnson for the waiver price to an American League club. But when he came to deliver, he found that he had not been given authority to make trades. The club then proceeded to sell Johnson to Omaha for $750, a loss of $800.

Before the Cardinals can be a success, it appears a little housecleaning, white-washing and the like would be in order. The club is entitled to frigate off its exchequer in any way it wants to, but it certainly cannot expect to make friends by selling misinformation and then permitting its patrons to be ignored by an umpire paid to do things.

AMICABLE FIGHTS POPULAR. ADOLPH WOLGAST, once designated the "Tectonic Whirlwind," is evidently working himself up to the tornado class with difference, since the surgeon's knife cut short his activity—and his vermillion appendix. Thanksgiving day Adolph spent recovering from an operation and since that time the champion of all 135-pounders has not entered the ring.

The manner of his return to his former element reminds one of a reluctant bather entering the ocean. Adolph's first effort will be on Saturday night, when he encounters Willie Ritchie on the coast. The men will hardly have time to shake hands and back off before the bout will be over. It's a four-round affair. Willie and Adolph have training quarters side by side. They are fast friends, too. Thus the battle will be a safe one to bet on—if you pick a draw as the result.

NO CHANCE TO LOSE.

ADOLPH's next probable venture will be in New York, where they have 10-round contests. There's nothing to be lost there, for the Oldest Inhabitant has forgotten when all the newspapers agreed on the result of a contest. It's safe to say at least one writer will be strong enough FOR the

JOHNNY BENDER SIGNS TO COACH NORTHWEST TEAM

No successor has been named for Coach John Bender of St. Louis U., who has resigned his post at the local school to become director of athletics at Washington State College of Pullman, Wash. It is understood that more than 30 applications have been received for the Billiken job, and among the applicants are several graduates of the school, but the Athletic Board has taken no steps to fill the vacancy.

Bender's withdrawal comes as a surprise to the school's followers. Bender was considered highly successful here, having won the State title two years running. By beating Missouri and Syracuse last fall, he achieved a feat few persons thought possible. However, Bender was unable to reach an agreement over his salary and the length of a new contract and was forced to resign.

Back to His Old Job.

Bender goes back to the old school where he scored his first success. He coached the Washington State team in 1907-08, and in those two years maintained an inviolate record in the Pacific Northwest. "Twas Bender's team that defeated the then unbeaten St. Louis U. eleven, coached by Eddie Cochem, on Christmas day, 1907. Washington won from the blue and white eleven on a field covered with ice and water, 13-6.

Bender will remain in St. Louis until he completes his law course at St. Louis U.; he will take charge at Washington State next

A LOVING ARRANGEMENT.

FOLLOWING that, on July 4, Wolgast is going in for more callisthenics with Jose Rivers as his opponent. Jose is a featherweight with elephantiasis. He has recently swelled up into the lightweight limit and wants a chance to hook onto a little dough. Considerately he matched with Wolgast for a 20-round fight. Wolgast stated it be on condition that they meet later, on Labor day, at the same distance, which makes it plain that the first encounter is going to be about as vicious as a family reunion.

Adolph has been out of the money-getting grind quite a while, it is true; but there's no use making a forcing bed out of a United States mint in the endeavor to make up lost time, Adolph.

IS IT A VAIN HOPE?

THE Browns have spent three days doing nothing. Let us hope they will change their tactics and not occupy the entire season in this manner.

Grover Hays Batters Goodman.

COLUMBUS, O., May 10.—Fighting like wildcats from start to finish, Danny Goodman and Grover Hays of Columbus fought the best 10 rounds seen in this city since the revival of the first game. Hays, although no decision was given, battered Goodman all the way.

Johnny Albanese forced Jim Watts of Indianapolis to throw up the sponge in seven rounds. Walz was missed time and time again.

Maloney Defeats Bradley. PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—In the most sensational contest staged at the Broad- way club this season, Teddy Maloney out-fought Pat Bradley in six rounds that fairly dazzled with action. Maloney had the better of the first four rounds. Bradley made a strong rally and honors were divided in the last two sessions.

Millers Meet Grafton Sunday. The Ben Millers will play Grafton at Christian Brothers Campus Sunday. The Ben Millers have been greatly strengthened by the addition of Smith and Rutherford and feel confident that from now on they will go right to the top. In fact, Sebastian says they have lost more games so far this year than they will lose the rest of the year. Grafton will use Schmalke from the Cotton States League.

TO CURE SICK, SOUR, BILIOUS STOMACH, INDIGESTION AND GAS TAKE CASCARETS.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the stomach. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

DETECTIVE FORCE ORDERED TO AID IN WAR ON LID CLUBS

Chief Young Instructs Schmidt to Gather Evidence for the Grand Jury Crusade.

ENCOURAGED BY DECISION

Supreme Court Ruling Against Horseshoe Club Considered a Help to Police.

Chief of Police Young summoned Acting Chief of Detectives John Schmidt to his office, Friday morning, and told him that the city detectives must "get busy" gathering evidence against the lid clubs.

The chief told Schmidt, who is at the head of the detective force in the absence of Chief of Detectives Allender on his honeymoon, that the plain clothes men will be expected hereafter to gather evidence for the use of the grand jury in the campaign against the lid organizations. This duty heretofore has been left to the uniformed police-men.

Police Are Encouraged.
Chief Young is encouraged by the Supreme Court decision dismissing the injunction obtained by the Modern Horseshoe Club, 2300 Chestnut street, restraining the police from entering the place.

This club, which is managed by Ollie Jackson, is a negro organization. When the police sought to enter the club and find out what was going on, permission to enter was refused and an injunction obtained restraining the police from interfering with the club.

The controversy over the injunction reached the Supreme Court, where Judge Franklin Ferris handed down a decision Thursday dismissing the injunction. Relief for the club was refused, "not because some of its members are bad men nor because its manager is an ex-convict," the court said, "but because the plaintiff does not come into a court of equity with clean hands, and it is not the province of equity to assist a wrongdoer in violating the law."

Police Position Changed.
The court believed that liquor was sold in the club indiscriminately to members and non-members.

Chief Young said the decision would aid materially in a war of extermination against similar resorts.

The police department, according to the chief, has been placed in the position of knowing that unlawful acts were being committed behind closed doors and feeling unsafe in trying to make arrests owing to injunction interference.

PHILADELPHIA WANTS HANDSOME POLICEMEN
Rum Blossom Nose, Sore Teeth and Color Blindness Not to Be Tolerated.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—The local Civil Service Commission issued a circular today describing what the future policemen of this city are to be like. Among the requirements are:

"The circular frowns upon obesity and applicants must be free of physical deformity or the evidence of 'intemperance.' In case of a naturally red nose, said nose must be examined to prove that it has no relation to a rum blossom. The applicant must possess at least twenty natural teeth and there must be two molars among them. 'Store teeth' will not be tolerated.

The applicant must be free of color blindness and be able to 'read the English language with each eye separately' and must hear out of both ears, breathe out of both lungs and have a good heart action. Handsome men will be preferred, the circular concludes.

SAILORS ON RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP MUTINY
60 Men Are Arrested—Uprising Follows Dismissal of 200 From Shipyard.

BRISBANGFORS, May 10.—A mutiny erupted aboard the battleship Tsesarevich and 60 of the crew were arrested. The mutiny is supposed to have some connection with the unrest that has prevailed in the local Russian Government since 300 men were dismissed for striking a holiday May 1.

Directly after the suppression of the mutiny the squadron sailed for an unannounced destination.

Ordinary Gas Stoves are being displaced by the new 'Buck's' Sanitary White Enameled Ovens, which are easy to keep clean as dishes.
